Miss Carver has been Menjou's protegee in the films.

HOPE GOVERNOR AND LIBRARY TRUSTEES WILL SAVE LIBRARY

Emergency Board Re-
jects Request For State
Allotment

COLUMBUS, June 21.—Friends of the state library today were looking to Governor Vic Donahey and the library's board of trustees hoping that these state officials will work out a satisfactory plan for maintaining existing activities of the library, without interruption. The state emergency board late Monday unanimously rejected the application, submitted by Herbert S. Hirschberg, state librarian for an emergency allotment of state funds which would permit operation of the state library after June 30, next. Hirschberg's request was made because of the action of the governor who, a few days ago, vetoed the $126,000 item in the general appropriation bill designed to provide operation of the state library during the 18-month fiscal period beginning July 1, next.

The emergency board's rejection of Hirschberg's request, it was announced, was based upon a ruling by Attorney General Edward C. Turner that the board had no legal right to grant the request. The attorney general held, it was stated, that the situation resulting from the governor's veto did not constitute power to authorize expenditure of state funds except in cases of emergency.

Governor Donahey has announced his intention of submitting to the library's board of trustees soon plans designed to provide for a continued operation of the library's activities.

NEW COAL PROJECT BEING ANNOUNCED

CLEVELAND, O., June 21.—Plans for an important coal development project in the Robinson Run district, near Madsen, W. Va., were announced today by the James A. Paisley interests of Cleveland.

The proposal calls for an expenditure of several hundred thousand dollars, it was said. The new mines are expected to turn out approximately 2,500 tons of coal per day. About one thousand acres of coal land will be opened by the Connellsville By-Products Company, which is affiliated with the Paisley interests.

WILE SAYS:

Sheffield Through?
Andrews Holiday

By FREDERIC WILLIAM WILE

Exclusive Dispatch, Copyright, 1927

WASHINGTON, June 21.—When a homecoming ambassador arrives with twenty-seven crates of household furniture addressed to his regular habitat on American soil, there's reason to believe he's returned for keeps. At any rate, James Rockwell Sheffield, United States ambassador to Mexico, has just turned up laden, and the deduction in Washington is that his days as our envoy beyond the Rio Grande are numbered. Mr. Sheffield is spending part of the week end at the Capital, reporting to Secretary Kellogg. Officially, the ambassador is home on a sixty-day furlough. He may go back to Mexico City formally to present his letters of recall—or whatever it is that a retiring foreign diplomat submits on such occasions—but insiders expect that a successor will shortly carry on at Mexico City where Sheffield left off. The ambassador is an Arden Yale man. He will be at New Haven next week, attending the fortieth reunion of his class ('87), of which he was the orator. Mr. Sheffield

BABE ABANDONED IN VALISE IN STATION

NEW YORK, June 21.—Police today sought the mother of an infant who abandoned the child in a valise which she checked at the Grand Central station after stuffing a wad of absorbent cotton in its mouth.

The baby's life probably was saved when one of the clerks, hearing wailing coming from the valise and believing them to come from a cat, investigated.

JAPAN OPPOSES PROPOSALS

AUXILIARY SHIPS RATIO NOT FAVORED BY ADMIRAL SAITO

American Delegates
Want Jap Plan Explained

GENEVA, June 21.—Proposals for the extension of naval disarmament as set forth at the tri-partite conference by Great Britain, the United States and Japan, were today turned over to the technicians for careful study.

Leaders of the delegations met and formed an executive committee and decided to organize a large technical committee to begin work studying the proposals immediately. The executive committee will re-meet on Friday.

Admiral Viscount Saito, head of the Japanese delegation, was very outspoken today in declaring that Japan will never accept a 5-5-3 ratio for auxiliary ships, a proposal which France and Italy already had rejected at the Washington conference.

Admiral Saito said he saw many difficulties ahead particularly with the British proposal for increasing the age of battleships, a proposal which Japan opposes and upon which the United States is more or less neutral.

The American delegation, finding the Japanese proposals somewhat vague, today asked the Japanese for precision. Pending receipt of greater details the Americans are loath to form any opinion on the Japanese proposals.

The first rapid study of the three sets of proposals proved to the American delegates that many weeks work probably will be necessary before any definite compromise is possible.

Although the Americans realize that everyone is willing to make some concessions, nevertheless the proposals are now so far apart that it is evident that much hard work lies ahead.

The Japanese proposal to reduce the age limit of auxiliary ships below what the United States naval experts have always considered advisable makes it certain that many American warships due to become obsolete shortly, already would be considered ready for scrapping if the Japanese viewpoint were translated into a clause of the proposed treaty. On the other hand, Japan's recent building program of auxiliary ships would give her an advantage on what the present comparative figures show.

Guessing at what Japan means, American experts computed that, if the Japanese proposal were adopted, it would give the Japanese a ratio in auxiliary ships and submarines of approximately 3.7 to the United States five, while the British ratio would be still even higher than that of the United States.

American experts consider the British proposals incomplete, holding that they insist too much upon altering and amending the Washington treaty. The British suggest applying the 5-5-3 ratio on a basis of 10,000 tons.

If Great Britain should insist upon serious consideration of her proposals in toto it is believed here that it would be necessary to defer action for several years until France and Italy can be brought into a conference to reconsider the problems of the Washington treaty.

PARDON SAVES AGED SYNDICALIST FROM SERVING SENTENCE

California Governor Acts
In Case Of Anita
Whitney

SACRAMENTO, Cal., June 21.—A pardon by Gov. C. C. Young today saved Miss Anita Whitney, 60-year-old social service worker of Oakland, from a penitentiary sentence for criminal syndicalism.

Seven years ago, the Oakland philanthropist was convicted of membership in the communist labor party. The court sentenced her to serve from ten to fourteen years in San Quentin prison for violation of the syndicalism act. After a long struggle in the courts, the supreme court upheld her conviction several weeks ago.

Then began a state-wide campaign to bring about her pardon. Governor Young was deluged with letters asking him to review the case carefully. The present pardon followed the executive's investigation.

"To condemn her, at 60 years of age, to a felon's cell is unthinkable," Governor Young declared. "Whatever may be thought of the folly of her misdirected sympathies, her lifelong friendship for the unfortunate is ample proof that she is no criminal in any sense of the word."

LINDY MAY FLEE SPOTLIGHT

FLYERS WILL LEAVE SOON FOR HONOLULU

Lieutenants Maitland And Hagenberger From Day-
ton Admit Plans For Hawaii Hop—Leave
Frisco Between July 1 and 14.

SAN DIEGO, June 21.—Lt. Lester Maitland, one of the army's outstanding pilots, and Lt. Albert Hagenberger, will hop off from San Francisco for Honolulu in a tri-motored Fokker monoplane some time between July 1 and 14, Maitland announced today following his arrival from Dayton, O.

Plainly annoyed by the advance publicity attending the flight, Maitland said he endeavored to keep the flight a secret until the actual time of the take-off. When he discovered that this could not be done, he revealed the complete details of the flight.

He said his tri-motored monoplane will carry 1,040 gallons of gasoline and will weigh 13,400 pounds at the time of the take-off for the trans-Pacific hop. His motors will consume about thirty gallons of gasoline an hour. He expects to reach Honolulu in thirty hours.

Maitland declared it is imperative for him to start from San Francisco rather than San Diego because of the shorter flight distance involved.

AMERICAN GENEVA DELEGATES NOT TO DEVIATE FROM PROGRAM

Washington Says Proposals Contain All Concessions This Country Can Make—British Plan Unacceptable

WASHINGTON, June 21.—The American delegates at the Geneva Arms Conference will not deviate very far from the program of limitation formulated in Washington and presented to the conference by Hugh S. Gibson yesterday, it was stated today in authoritative circles.

While it is far too early to talk of "ultimatums" or "last words," the fact remains, it was said today, that the program presented by Gibson goes about as far as it is possible to go without putting the United States navy in a position of decided inferiority to Great Britain and Japan. Some give and take will be necessary, it is anticipated here, but the basic features of the American program are not likely to be altered.

The British counter-proposals are wholly unacceptable to the United States. The more closely they were examined today by naval experts here the more unsatisfactory they became. Japan's proposals, being somewhat vague, are not understood in Washington. Japan apparently is insisting upon a ratio of auxiliary ships greater than that allotted to her in capital ships under the 1921 agreement. This of course, is unsatisfactory to the United States.

It was upon the British proposals, however, that naval experts have centered their attention. The evidences of Anglo-American understanding and agreement that were so marked in Washington five years ago apparently are absent at Geneva, for the British program conflicts with the American proposals at nearly every vital point.

The American proposition simply suggests the application of the 5-5-3 ratio to all auxiliary naval craft. It is the essence of simplicity, and from the American viewpoint, eminently fair to all concerned, in view of the fact that both powers already have subscribed to the justice of the 5-5-3 ratio as applied to capital ships.

Against this, however, the British have advanced a series of cleverly devised proposals which not only aim at re-opening the Washington treaty, but would make well nigh incalculable changes in the present-day naval construction.

The heart of the British program lies in the proposal that cruisers be limited to 7,500 tons and that guns be reduced from 8-inch to 6-inch. All of the newer American cruisers, built and building are 10,000 tons and bear 8-inch guns.

AIR ACE POSTPONES TOUR; WILL DEVOTE TIME TO BUSINESS

May Visit Dayton In Spite Of Plan To Delay Tour

ST. LOUIS, Mo., June 21.—Eager to return to the ranks as a private citizen, Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh today sought to abandon the spotlight as a world hero.

The "lone eagle" will postpone his contemplated aerial tour of the country for several weeks and probably until late in July. In the meantime he will devote himself to negotiating the first steps of a business career, to writing a book of his trans-Atlantic flight and to seeking rest as an ordinary mortal.

Lindbergh will decline temporarily all invitations from a clamorous and adoring public for personal appearances. It was said, with two possible exceptions. He was reported favorably inclined toward an early acceptance of an invitation from the Canadian government for a visit to America's northern neighbor. It was also felt he should visit Dayton, Ohio, because all airmen look upon that city—the home of the Wrights—as the "birthplace of aviation."

The air hero will leave St. Louis tomorrow or Thursday for the east, presumably to visit Washington and New York. While in the national capital, he will confer with government officials over the invitation of the Canadian government and with navy officers of the technical aspects of his trans-Atlantic flight. He hopes to fly east in the "Spirit of St. Louis," to show the public how easy it is to commute in a plane across half the country.

Lindbergh and his advisers here have been stumped by the problem of arranging his proposed aerial tour. None of his advisers has had any experience with such matters and Lindbergh will probably invoke the assistance of a professional agency while in New York.

Those invitations, which specified certain dates were being declined today in letters forwarded in behalf of Lindbergh, by Thomas N. Dymart, an investment broker and friend of the youth.

"I am authorized to say that Col. Lindbergh will not accept any invitations which specify certain dates," said Dymart. "Invitations which ask him to come at his convenience, will be acknowledged and the colonel will give them all careful consideration."

"I personally cannot see how he will be able to fill any engagements until next month. He needs a complete rest and he must work upon his book."

Harold M. Bixby, St. Louis banker and one of Lindbergh's financial backers, corroborated Dymart. The banker said Lindbergh might visit Washington and New York on business but would not fulfill any other engagements for several weeks to come. He added that a formal announcement of Lindbergh's plans for the immediate future would be made during the day.

The youthful air hero needs several weeks to consider the business offers, already made him, it was learned. There are now 50,000 letters awaiting his consideration at the St. Louis chamber of commerce, thousands of which relate to business matters.

Lindbergh has one more formal engagement to keep here before he goes east. He has promised to attend a banquet of the Industrial Club of St. Louis tonight. Then his plan is to become a private citizen again for several weeks at least.

COAL WAGE DISPUTE OBJECT OF MEETING FOR CONCILIATION

Illinois Miners And
Operators Seeking
Solution

CHICAGO, June 21.—Illinois miners and operators today got down to the task of trying to solve the wage dispute which since April has tied up virtually all union soft coal mining in Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois.

It was the first major attempt at conciliation since the suspension and because more than 70,000 men are employed in the Illinois mines and the points at issue in this state are typical of the entire central competitive field, the conference was expected to reveal whether a general agreement can be reached.

Harry Fishwick, president of the Illinois miners and Rice Miller, head of the operators were the central figures at the conference. Both professed uncertainty over the prospects for an agreement.

Termination of the so-called Jacksonville contract, under which miners received a minimum of $7.50 for day labor, caused the suspension.

The operators said they could not renew the contract and make a profit in competition with the non-union West Virginia and Kentucky fields. The miners said they could not take a reduction.

Complicating the problem were various side-issues, including the installation of labor-saving machinery, over which operators and miners have clashed in times past.

Little of the rancor which has characterized miner-operator meetings in the past was noticeable today. The miners walked off their jobs knowing it nilinois, at least, that no attempts would be made to forcibly break the tie-up.

Under existing state laws strike-breaking would be all but impossible.

Both camps were agreed on the need for a change in the existing freight rate structure. It is claimed the central field is failing to read the advantages of its accessibility to heavy coal consuming sections.

AMERICA WILL TAKE FOURTH PASSENGER COMMANDER STATES

Test Pilot Added To
Fokker Crew—Await
Good Weather

ROOSEVELT FIELD, N. Y., June 21.—Commander Richard E. Byrd announced today that he expects to hop off at dawn tomorrow for Europe in the three-motored Fokker monoplane America.

He also revealed the fourth man who will make the trip. He is Lieut. Bernt Balchen, of Carlstadt, N. J., who for the last seven years has been a test pilot for the Fokker company. Balchen is 28 years old, unmarried, and a Norwegian who has just taken out his American naturalization papers.

"Weather conditions are improving and it won't be long now before we get away," said Byrd. He was asked why a fourth man was going along. "So that we can show that we can carry a passenger, if for no other reason," Byrd replied.

Besides Byrd and Balchen the trans-Atlantic flight will be made by Bert Acosta, pilot, and Lieut. George O. Noville, the radio expert.

All four are experienced flyers. Acosta was with Clarence Chamberlin when he established a world's endurance flight record several months ago.

Balchen was standing beside the silver-bodied America in its hangar here when Byrd made the announcement that he was going on the trip. Balchen beamed. Byrd said that Balchen was "an unusual fellow" and would prove a great help on the flight over the ocean.

"Balchen deserves to go in view of what he did for me during the flight over the North Pole," said Byrd. "He is an all-around man. He knows the plane thoroughly, is a good navigator, a pilot and understands radio."

Byrd indicated he was eager to get away. If he does not get off about 5 o'clock tomorrow he probably will wait until sunset. A sunset take-off would land him in Europe in daytime, however, it has become no longer a matter of personal preference and Byrd is going to take off as soon as the storms west of the coast of Ireland clear away.

He is going to fly a route a little further south than the great circle taken by Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh.

SPEAKERS HEARD AT TEACHERS' MEETING

CEDAR POINT, O., June 21.—Dr. Robert S. Vinson, president of Western Reserve University, Cleveland; Congressman James T. Begg of Sandusky, and Congressman Martin L. Davey, Kent, were speakers at the first session of the eighth annual convention of the Ohio Teachers Association here today.

In his talk this morning, Dr. Vinson declared that the key to the future is held by educators. Begg talked of China and the Philippines expressing the belief, based on his personal observation a year ago, that the Filipinos are not ready for independence.

Davey discussed education and legislation, contending that only educated law makers can make good laws.

The afternoon program was to be in charge of the Parent-Teacher division of the Teachers Association.

Dr. Edwin Holt Hughes, Methodist Episcopal bishop of Chicago, was to speak at tonight's session.

KING WINTER SETS NEW NON-STOP RECORD

King Winter came down Monday after establishing a new non-stop record which carried him well into June.

"I will not commercialize my achievement," he said, when alighting. "I did it only to further the progress of the U. S. weather bureau."

Winter told newspaper correspondents who had followed him from the North Pole on bicycles, that he is already planning another non-stop attempt. By starting early in the fall he expects to establish a new record that will keep him in the air until June, 1928.

The present non-stop record was inspired by the many non-stop attempts now being made. Winter said. He referred to President Coolidge's attempt to establish a non-stop presidential record and Al Smith's non-stop smile attempt, by which he hopes to smile himself into the White House.

Correspondents informed him of the glorious achievement of "Shipwreck" Kelly, who survived for twelve days atop a fifty-foot flagpole in Newark, N. J. and who has dedicated his life to the future of flag-pole sitting.

Strong winds prevented King Winter from making an even longer record, he said. The winds were from the south and were too warm, causing his motor to become overheated.

DO BUSINESS WITH STOREKEEPERS YOU KNOW

Shopping is a serious business, as every housewife knows. It is not only a matter of getting the best goods at the lowest prices, but also of getting the best service. You can trust them.

In an emergency, when unexpected guests arrive, or hubby brings home an important out-of-town customer for dinner, what a convenience to have somebody you can trust at the other end of your telephone wire!

But, is it fair to use your hometown stores just for emergencies? Isn't that rather like taking a mean advantage of their proximity, their eagerness to serve their friends?

When you buy out of town you are dealing with a card index system, with a catalogue for a display window, and the money goes away from home.

When you buy in your hometown, you are buying from people you know; and the money stays right where you are.

Buy at home, at the time, it's the fair thing to do for the community, and it's the clever thing to do for yourself.

WRECKAGE MAY TELL STORY OF AVIATORS

RIO JANEIRO, June 21.—The fate of Captain St. Roman and his comrades, who hopped off from Africa several weeks ago on a trans-Atlantic hop to South America and have not been heard from since, now seems likely to be cleared up.

Portions of what appears to be a float made from aeroplane wings have been picked up outside of Para, the national telegraph bureau reports.

Experts believe that St. Roman was forced down near the coast of Brazil and when his plane threatened to sink made a float of the wings of the plane and fought to keep himself and comrades afloat until they were picked up, but they drifted out of the ship routes and were finally forced to give up the struggle.

If You Fear An Operation Because of Gall Bladder Trouble or Gall Stones, Watch These Signs.

Perhaps you don't know whether you have this trouble or not, but if you are bothered with dizzy spells, headaches, shortness of breath, gas in stomach and bowels, pressure or sharp pains in right side that often shoot through to the back, coated tongue, bad breath, lack of ambition, weakness, nervousness and nights of restless misery—you probably are a victim of this health destroying menace that fills your system with poison and may mean a dangerous surgical operation unless checked at once!

Folks near or past middle life are especially liable to hepatic torpidity, gall bladder trouble or gall stones—and in the opinion of the writer one of the best things in the world for conditions of this kind is the regular home use of "Klax-Ko" tablets which Sayre's Drug Store and other good druggists supply on a binding guarantee to refund their small cost if genuinely beneficial results are not obtained inside of a week. Acid Stomach

"Phillips Milk of Magnesia"

Better than Soda

Hereafter, instead of soda take a little "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" in water any time for indigestion or sour, acid, gassy stomach, and relief will come instantly.

For fifty years genuine "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" has been prescribed by physicians because it overcomes three times as much acid in the stomach as a saturated solution of bicarbonate of soda, leaving the stomach sweet and free from all gases. It neutralizes acid fermentations in the bowels and gently urges the souring waste from the system without purging. Besides, it is more pleasant to take than soda. Insist upon "Phillips." Twenty-five cent and fifty-cent bottles, any drug-store. "Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Co. and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875.

NEWARK "Y" YOUTHS

ENTERTAINED HERE

ON EDUCATION TOUR

Forty Newark boys making a tour of southern Ohio in a special bus, under the leadership of A. J. Black, of the Newark Y. M. C. A., former teacher at the McKinley school here, visited Xenia Monday and were royally entertained.

The boys are all members of the Newark Y. M. C. A. and arrived here at 4 p. m. after spending the previous night in Cincinnati and exploring Fort Ancient earlier in the day.

The party was met on the Bellbrook Pike outside the city by a delegation of Xenia Boy Scouts, under Scoutmaster J. J. Stout who escorted the visitors on an inspection trip of the two twin mills and the O. S. and S. O. Home.

The boys were later honor guests at a dinner at the Second U. P. Church.

Following the dinner served by the Fourth Division of the Ladies Aid Society of the Church, a program was held with J. H. Nagley as toastmaster.

Mayor John W. Prugh delivered a welcoming address to which A. J. Black responded. Brief talks were also given by Mrs. M. O. Snodgrass, on behalf of the mothers of the city, and Mrs. W. O. Custis, who spoke of the high regard in which the former Xenia teacher is held by his acquaintances.

Other talks were given by Miss Elsie Canby, president of the Xenia Business and Professional Women's Club; Karl Babb, representing the Kiwanis Club, and Wilson W. Galloway, Cedarville, who at one time was physical director of the Newark Y. M. C. A., leaving his position in 1916. Nearly 100 people attended the dinner. Several of the boys in the group also talked briefly.

The party drove to the Bryan state farm near Yellow Springs at 7:15 the same evening and camped in the open over night, hiking back to the village early Tuesday morning, where breakfast was enjoyed at the Antioch Tea Room. The tourists went to London shortly before noon and expected to return to Newark Tuesday night.

PROSECUTOR STILL SILENT REGARDING FINDINGS IN REPORT

Prosecutor J. C. Marshall continued to maintain silence Tuesday on what action, if any, he proposed to take regarding findings totalling more than $1,200 returned against three members of the Xenia Twp., education board.

The findings were contained in the report of O. P. Gunkel, state school examiner, and charged Horace Anderson, B. D. Conklin and Frank Weaver with buying coal for township schools from the Xenia Farmers Exchange although they were at the time stockholders in the Farmers Exchange.

The report cites the state law which makes that offense punishable by terms of one to ten years in the penitentiary. Prosecutor Marshall refused to comment on the situation Tuesday. In the meantime a statement from D. H. Barnes, clerk of the board, reveals that the board only recently purchased a new supply of coal from the Xenia Farmers Exchange.

The statement says that the Xenia Farmers Exchange presented the only bid after bids were advertised for by newspaper.

STEMMERY EMPLOYEES STRIKE;

POLICE RESTORE ORDER AT PLANT

Approximately 200 colored women stemmers at the Xenia Stemmer Branch of the American Cigar Co., W. Second St., went on a strike early Tuesday morning in protest against a new wage scale placed in effect by the company last Friday, designed to save the employees time in stemming tobacco and increase their wage-earning capacity.

Police were called to quell any disturbances but had no difficulty in maintaining order as the walk-out was a peaceable one. The stemming force of 350 is made up entirely of women, a majority of whom are colored. Of these, between fifty and 100 remained at work. Manager E. E. Boxwell dismissed half a dozen women, who were apparently responsible for the trouble.

Under the former wage system, the stemmers received forty cents for stemming eight pounds of tobacco. Under the new system, they would receive fifty cents for ten pounds, and fewer "weigh-ups" would be made necessary. The stemmers approved of the ten cent increase but objected to the added two pounds of tobacco, necessary to equalize the increased pay, thinking they would be required to stem more tobacco for less money.

Patrolmen Fred Jones, Charles Thompson, Ed Craig and Peter Shagin remained at the stemmer during the morning to keep order. Company officials believe the controversy will be adjusted. It was the first strike in the stemmer's history.

EXHIBIT TROPHIES

ST. LOUIS, June 21.—The trophies, medals and decorations conferred upon Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh by admiring governments at home and abroad will be placed on exhibition shortly at the Jefferson memorial here, it was announced today. The exhibition will be under the auspices of the Missouri Historical Society.

The gifts to Lindbergh were insured for $250,000 when shipped here from the east and the flier has begun a careful inventory of them. At present the collection is stored in vaults of the Mississippi Valley Trust Company.

Old Folks Say Doctor Caldwell was Right

The basis of treating sickness has not changed since Dr. Caldwell's Medical College in 1875, nor since he placed on the market the laxative prescription he had used in his practice, known to druggists and the public since 1892, as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

Then, the treatment of constipation, biliousness, headaches, mental depression, indigestion, sour stomach and other indispositions that result from constipation was entirely by means of simple vegetable laxatives herbs and roots. These are still the basis of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which is a combination of senna and other mild laxative herbs, with pepsin.

The simpler the remedy for constipation, the safer for the child and for you, and the better for the general health of all. And as you can get results in a mild safe way by using Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, why take chances with strong drugs?

A bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin will last a family several months, and all can use it. It is good for the baby because pleasant to the taste, gentle in action, and free from narcotics. In the proper dose, given in the directions, it is equally effective at all ages. Elderly people will find it especially ideal. All drug stores have the generous bottles.

We would be glad to have you prove at our expense how much Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin can mean to you and yours. Just write "Syrup Pepsin," Monticello, Illinois, and we will send you prepaid a FREE SAMPLE BOTTLE.

THE TEACHER IS TARDY

About the time a man becomes old enough to understand that the way of the transgressor really is hard, and no joking, he finds that he is so old that nobody is even interested in his transgressions. So far as society is concerned he may keep right on transgressing if he is having any fun out of it. All of which is very humiliating to one who in youth and middle age has considered himself equally good in a 100-yard transgression dash or a mile run.

People, he has found, feel perfectly safe to poke a dead snake.

Experience, of course, is the best teacher, but she begins her instructions so late in life that they are out of date before they can be put into practice, and then they are about as happy as the undertaker's stale joke with which he attempts to cheer up the family of the late lamented.

In youth we pay no attention to precepts, and in old age, when we are perfectly willing to heed them if they will cure our rheumatism, pay the grocer or get us back the money we've gambled away, we find that like the flowers which bloom in the spring, they have nothing to do with the case.

AVIATION

Will Rogers says it was just as easy for the second plane to fall in the Atlantic ocean as the first.

His commentary is an effective answer to the criticism that has attended the successful trans-Atlantic flight of Chamberlin and Levine.

Lloyd Bertand, air mail pilot, originally scheduled to accompany Chamberlin, began this criticism when he attacked both the flight and its motives. His remarks were in exceedingly bad taste.

Every achievement in aviation is a spurt to greater deeds. When Rodgers crossed the country in two months and slightly more than three hours actual flying time, he set a mark for future pilots to shoot at. If some other aviator, even a flier of another nation, beats the Chamberlin and Levine distance record, more power to them. It will inspire American aviators to make a new record.

How to Achieve Beauty

SUN AND WINDPROOFING YOUR COMPLEXION

Today I am going to talk about sun and windproofing your complexion because summer is just beginning and in beauty culture, as well as in other things, an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure.

Modern chemistry has made treatment using the three steps to achieving beautiful skin in the creating of a beauty preparation, and that is: after having exfoliated the skin, to use a good skin-toning lotion, to use a good skin-toning lotion, to use a good skin-toning lotion.

burn and freckles so that men, women and children can enjoy their favorite outdoor sports without fear of harmful results.

These sun and windproof preparations come in the form of creams, balms and liquid powders which protect the skin and, even more than that, form an effective make-up foundation which contributes to a flattering finish.

Motorizing the pastime in which we all indulge in so much in summer, plays havoc with the skin unless the necessary preventive measures are followed. To counteract its ill effects, never permit yourself to go motorizing without first applying a foundation for texture.

your usual make-up a layer of sun and windproof cream, or if you like something of lighter consistency, use a sun and windproof balm. Then, when you return from your drive, or at the end of beginning and in beauty culture, as well as in other things, an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure.

However, if not convenient to yourself a complete beauty treatment using the three steps to achieving beautiful skin in the creating of a beauty preparation, and that is: after having exfoliated the skin, to use a good skin-toning lotion, to use a good skin-toning lotion, to use a good skin-toning lotion.

If your face feels slightly chapped after being out in the air for several hours, wash it in fresh milk or sweet cream, leaving this on for five or ten minutes, if possible, or use a good skin-toning lotion, to use a good skin-toning lotion, to use a good skin-toning lotion.

To prevent sunburn, tan and freckles, do not go without a hat during the summer, especially in the late morning, around noon time, or early afternoon, when the actinic rays of the sun are strongest and most damaging to the skin.

The Theatre

During a recently held convention of the major motion picture producers, where modern trends and demands in film production have been discussed by veterans in the industry, D. W. Griffith, who is responsible for many fine films in this country, expressed the belief that flapper love and petting parties in the films are doomed.

He says that films must have something more to offer than youth in its most foolish stage. That audiences are "bored to death" with the exhibition of puppy love and the general run of present-day motion picture drama. He thinks the more serious tales of adult experiences are to come into the limelight again. And yet, does the public want this kind of pictures?

Nowhere in the world is youth celebrated to such an extent as in America. Often, inexperienced and immature youngsters, with no claim whatsoever to the word "artist," except a pair of shapely legs or a sleek, shiny head that contains little idea of what art really is, are brought forward as "artists." All the while, experienced artists, who have back of them years of experience and excellent talent, are held back because of the lacking qualities of "flaming youth." In general, motion picture audiences are not the carefully planning or thoughtfully discriminating kind. Most of them go to the movies to "kill time," and pictures are often seen because of their boudoir scenes rather than their fine dramatic value. It would thus seem that producers will have to struggle hard to create a desire for the "finer and sounder" things on the screen.

Jack Mulhall and Colleen Moore will be co-stars in "When I Was Eighteen." It is a tale of romance laid in Ireland and America. Mancho Sweet says seventy-five

YUM! YUM!

Keeping Healthy by Dr. A.F. Currier

CIRRHOSIS OF THE LIVER The human liver weighs up- wards of four pounds and is the largest organ in the body. It has many diseases which are of common occurrence, among them, cancer, abscess, gallstones, fatty degeneration and cirrhosis. In the last of these there is first an enlargement of the organ but by and by it shrinks and contracts on account of the fibrous tissue formed in its substance as the result of inflammation.

If improvement takes place, new cells or bunches of cells form knobs on the upper or convex surface of the organ thus forming what is called the hob-nail liver. Liver cells make bile, which is of service to the digestive process. If the supply of bile is partly cut off, the person becomes jaundiced and sick in various ways and if it is entirely cut off, he will die.

In cirrhosis, the bile secreting function is gradually destroyed, therefore it is only a question of time before the disease will be fatal.

It comes from various sources, principally from the abuse of whiskey, gin, rum, brandy, and other strong alcoholic.

The liver in this disease is simply soaked, hardened and preserved in alcohol. Alcohol causes enlargement, fatty degeneration and destruction of bile secreting cells, then cirrhosis and contraction as above mentioned.

Alcohol impairs the digestive power of the stomach and intestines, the food being imperfectly digested, poisonous substances are generated and these being carried by the blood current directly to the liver produce disturbance ending in cirrhosis.

This disease often progresses very slowly and the alcohol drinker not suspecting anything of the kind suddenly wakes up to the fact that he has an incurable disease.

Men are more subject to it than women, especially between the ages of 35 and 50 and with it is often associated an enlargement of the spleen.

When the last mentioned condition arrives the stomach and intestines have usually given out, the feet and legs begin to swell, and fluid will be poured from the enlarged blood vessels into the abdominal and other cavities of the body.

This fluid must be removed at suitable intervals by tapping. At this point in the disease the patient is miserable enough, has nausea and vomiting, coated tongue, diarrhea, alternating with constipation and constant trouble from hemorrhoids.

He also is jaundiced and his kidneys secrete very little urine, indeed there is now very little help for him, death will surely come quickly.

The worst thought of all is that the disease might have been prevented, at least if it were due to alcohol, though it is not impossible that it may come from other causes.

The only thing to be done when the disease is fairly established, is to try and make the patient as comfortable as possible, withholding alcohol and all excitants, like spices, coffee and tea.

He must avoid heat and cold, live on milk and plain soups, keep his bowels freely open with alkaline mineral waters.

Massage and suitable baths will often relieve the situation and retard effusion of fluid into the cavities of the body.

The patient must sleep as much as possible, day and night, and his surroundings must be cheerful as the circumstances will permit.

Ask Dr. Currier that medical question that has been puzzling you. Confine your letter to fifty words and send stamped, addressed envelope for reply. He cannot, of course, make individual diagnoses, and he reserves the right to decide as to the propriety of queries.

THAT VOLSTEAD ACT! NEW YORK.—Karl, who is a spokesman for the Xenia branch of the Hamburg American line, deplors the fact that United States passengers are moderate drinkers. He has just completed a trip around the world aboard his vessel, and during his voyage his opinion of the American as a liquor addict took a considerable slump.

MILLER ELECTRIC SHOP OPENED TO PUBLIC SATURDAY

Arthur V. Miller arranged an interesting exhibit of lighting, processes of various ages as a window feature of the opening of the new Miller Electric Shop, 34 W. Main St., opened to patrons for the first time Saturday.

Pottery oil-burning lamps of 600 B. C., 200 B. C. and 300 A. D. were the earliest of the lighting forms exhibited. The next era showed brass oil-burning lamps of 1,000 and 1,600 A. D. The candle and candle stick of 1800 and the gasoline lamp of 1850 showed next steps in lighting.

A coal oil lamp, depleted the period of 1870 and a crude electric bulb as introduced in 1890 was the next step shown. Successively the clear Mazda of 1910, the white Mazda of 1926, and finally the Mazda of 1926 with the frosted inside, showed the modern forms of lighting.

The new shop occupies the room formerly used by the Xenia Paige Co. It will handle electrical fixtures and devices, Ortho-sonic radios and do electrical wiring contracts.

Here are six questions dealing with news events of the past few days which have been reported in The Evening Gazette and The Morning Republican. Can you answer them accurately? If you can, you may claim credit as a really intelligent reader; but if you fail, that means you merely skim the news, as so many people do. Answers on Classified Page.

1. Where did President and Mrs. Coolidge attend church on Sunday, June 19? Who was the preacher?

2. What famous comedian recently underwent a major operation? Where was the operation performed?

4. What state executive has recently been host to John Coolidge, only son of the president?

6. What is the purpose of Commander Byrd's trans-Atlantic flight?

Mrs. Brown—"What quantities of rhubarb you have in your garden!"

Mrs. Jones—"Yes, I'm going to put some up this very afternoon. I have two recipes—

SPRING MARMALADE
Two pounds rhubarb, one pound pineapple, one pound strawberries, three pounds sugar.

Cut the rhubarb into half-inch pieces, shred the pineapple, hull the berries and add the sugar. Stir gently over the fire until the sugar is dissolved. Cook slowly and stir often until the marmalade is thick—about an hour and a half. When one drop hangs like a thread from the spoon it is thick enough. If a jellied marmalade is desired, commercial pectin may be used. Either the pineapple or the berries may be omitted and the other fruit doubled in quantity. Half a pound of raisins may be added just before the jam is done with any of the fruit combinations.

ORANGE AND RHUBARB MARMALADE
Six oranges, four pounds sugar, five pounds rhubarb.

Remove, peel in quarters from oranges and cut in thin slices with scissors. Divide oranges in sections, remove seeds and fiber. Put into large kettle, add rhubarb, cut in half-inch pieces. Boil thirty minutes, then add sugar and orange rind. Cook slowly one hour or more until thick. Turn into glasses and seal with paraffin.

Little Old New York

NEW YORK, June 21.—When Lindbergh was signed up by the New York Times, before he left for Paris, to write the story of his flight, the Times offered him $5,000 for his daily stories, an offer consisting, of course, upon his reaching Europe safely; because if he disappeared like Nungesser and Coli there would be no story.

Lindbergh, then unused to large sums of money as he is now, was somewhat afraid that the offer was too generous and wanted to know if the Times would not get some of the money back. "There are ways of syndacating such articles, aren't there?" he asked, "so you may get some of this money back?"

There were; but there were few orders for the story from other newspapers until word came in that Lindbergh had been seen off the coast of Ireland. Then the Times was delayed with orders.

The Times has turned over to Lindbergh the profits on the series of articles. The profits to date amount to over $60,000.

F. P. A. and some of the other columnists of New York have doubted that Lindbergh wrote the articles about his flight and his reception abroad. They have suggested that it is physically impossible for a person whose days have been so crowded as Lindbergh's have, to find time to write the articles. They have given it as their opinion that Lindbergh told what he wanted to say to some good newspaper man and that the latter did the actual writing.

Well, Lindbergh did the seemingly impossible once in flying from New York to Paris. He has done the seemingly impossible thing of writing his daily articles himself, amid all his distractions. Manuscripts of his articles are in the Times office, nearly every word of which is in his own handwriting. Some paragraphs he dictated to a stenographer.

Walter Winchell relates this story of a local Lucy Stone League, a Lucy Stone League, being (if you have forgotten) a married woman who refuses to merge her identity with that of her husband by adopting his name and insists upon being called "Miss" and her maiden name.

Allison Smith, who is a member of the Lucy Stone League, is married to Russell Crouse, a writer. At a party recently she started to introduce her husband to a group.

She said: "Meet my husband, Mr. —er—Mr.—er—"

"Mr. Crouse," interrupted her husband, handing her his card.

The puzzling point is that Allison Smith is not Russell Crouse's wife's maiden name. Her first husband was named Smith.

Ernest Boyd says that the Lucy Stone League was an organization of women who were fighting for the rights of married women to be mistaken for unmarried women.

Promenades of an impressionist: There is an illuminated globe on top of the Paramount theater building which glows with a white light, exception that on every quarter of an hour it turns into a red four separate signs. The Prince Albert electric sign at Columbus circle burns all day most of the time because some one forgets to switch it off. . . . Ever since Lindbergh said that New York had the finest police force he had ever seen, the New York cops have been spick and span and their chests are put a couple of inches beyond normal.

The cops did handle that crowd pretty well, considering the fact that their clubs were taken away from them for the day by the police commissioner. Still, one reporter had to show his pass ten times in one block to as many policemen. . . . The radio audience heard, but the newspapers did not report the kidding that went on between the speakers at the big dinner at the Commodore hotel for Lindbergh after Dr. Finley corrected Mayor Walker's mistake in grammar. Charles Evans Hughes and Al Smith began by admitting, when they got up, that their speeches were ungrammatical. . . . A well-known English author-lecturer confided to me that out of his various lecture tours of the country each successful as such things go, he has barely made expenses; but he has had a chance to see the country. . . . The Dutch Treat club is so accustomed to having only the cream of entertainers and talkers speak at the club's Tuesday luncheons that whenever a guest puts on a poor show, the club members refuse to meet that before the Dutch Treat club you must come prepared to take a kidding, if any of the members are inclined to do it.

ON LOOKING THE PART scoundrel. Otherwise the audience wouldn't be prepared to understand or follow what the character is up to.

I find an astonishing amount of shrewd observation and keen logic in the book. In "real life the gentleman looks perfectly honest. He should look honest; it is his best business asset." But on the stage, he must look enough like a crook for the audience to be forewarned the minute they see him.

The author probably was itching for those needing to go on and explain that audience, like any group of human beings, dislikes to have its cherished beliefs upset. A successful amateur or chautauque lecturer usually ends semi-professional, his audience home still certain that the things they have always believed are true. They are spared the ordeal of having to change their minds, and have a much happier evening than if they had been compelled to become suspicious of long-established convictions.

If there had never been a President Coolidge, and a man of the Coolidge type were cast in a play or motion picture as president of the United States, could the part have been successful?

And what would happen to a prominent banker if he came to his office in a comfortable flannel shirt and knickers such as he may wear at his country place? His customers, knowing that a banker doesn't dress that way, would be suspicious of him. He must meet their expectations of what he should look like.

JUNIOR BUSINESS MEN AVENGE ONLY DEFEAT OF SEASON

Avenge the only defeat they have sustained this season, the Junior Business Men won their seventh Xenia Playground League game by defeating the Rotary Club 20 to 8 Monday night at Cox Memorial Athletic Field.

The contest was hotly contested for six innings, but the winners chased eight runs across the plate in the seventh and followed up with four more in the ninth.

Rotarians scored all of their runs in the first four innings and were retired scoreless in the final five stanzas. Hy Hyman pitched for the league leaders, and after a bad start, hurled in his usual impressive fashion, being particularly effective in the latter innings. Kimmer, Rotary twirler, was knocked out of the box in the seventh and Tull finished the game.

Earlier in the season the Rotary had inflicted the only defeat the Junior Business Men have received this season, winning out in the final inning. The Junior Business Men are now half the league by two and one-half games.

SCOUT'S FIELD DAY EXPECTED TO DRAW KEEN COMPETITION

Keen competition for the various prizes being offered is expected in the annual Field Day athletic meet of Xenia Boy Scout troops, to take place near the Scout cabin north of Cox Memorial Athletic Field Wednesday afternoon, beginning promptly at 1 o'clock.

From ten to fourteen events have been arranged and members of all local troops are eligible to compete.

Prizes being offered winners of the individual and team events were obtained with funds derived from a recent benefit motion picture show, and will include small army tents, Scout knives and axes, ribbon bars and bronze medals.

Scoutmaster R. H. Kingsbury declares that all members of Troop No. 41, who plan to participate in the events, should register with him not later than Tuesday night.

Baseball games to determine the Scout troop diamond championship of the city will follow the field meet.

SENTENCE ALLEGED ROBBER TO PRISON

OTTAWA, O., June 21.—Attorneys for Arthur Bystrom, Point Place, today were preparing to seek a new trial for their client who late Monday was sentenced from ten to twenty-five years in the Ohio penitentiary.

Bystrom had been found guilty of robbing the Merchants National Bank of Defiance of $167,000.

Bystrom has already had two trials, a jury in Defiance County failing to return a verdict.

Bystrom's attorneys charge his reputation as a run runner reacted toward their client, although a score of witnesses testified he was repairing his run boat on Pelee Island, Lake Erie, at the time of the robbery.

Several days will be required to examine and sift evidence taken at the inquest, he said.

The coroner declared that during his absence he had received a cablegram from the father of the Antioch student, from his home in Stockport, England, asking details of the death of the youth.

Copy of a similar cablegram was received in a recent letter received by Police Chief M. E. Graham from the British Vice Consul at Cleveland, O., asking for full particulars of the case.

The British consul entered the investigation at the request of the elder Adshad.

Returning from a vacation spent at Bainbridge, O., Monday, Coroner F. M. Chambliss declared he will probably not render a verdict in the inquest held into the death of George Frederick Adshad, 22, Antioch College student, until the latter part of the week, because he does not expect to receive a transcript of the testimony before Wednesday.

FUN FOR THE WHOLE FAMILY

The Rovin' Ritzies

By Flo Frederick

Marty forgets that he's in school and disobeys the silence rule. When Patsy had asked her mother if she could clean out the fireplace grate, Mrs. Collins was almost too surprised to say "yes." Why any little girl should wish to come in the house on a beautiful sunny day and clean out the fireplace was more than she could understand, but when she had asked the reason Patsy had only nodded her head and said she couldn't tell as it was a garden secret.

Mrs. Collins was not very much surprised at this. As both Patsy and Marty were members of the Ritzie club, she was quite used to unusual requests. The Ritzies were always up to something and she felt sure that this garden secret of Patsy's was a Ritzie secret as well.

Her guess was right. The Ritzies needed wood ashes for their garden and as the Collins family had had a wood fire the night before, they decided the fireplace was the best place to find them. After sweeping the fine white ashes into a coal bucket, they sifted them through a piece of screen so as to take out all the big and unburned pieces and sprinkle the soft dust over their garden.

How it would all turn out, they could little guess. They had decided to plant a vegetable garden and raise some carrots and peas and things and had gotten well under way when they had been on for Mrs. Collins had given them all the seeds that were left in her seed box.

Each row was neatly marked with a stick, upon which was printed the name of the planted vegetable. When the little garden patch was all planted, Marty appointed Tag as the first to serve on water duty. The Ritzies were to take turns watering the garden every night after school.

Patsy had learned from helping her mother with the flowers that it wasn't wise to water plants while the sun was shining and so this time was set instead of in the morning.

The day after the garden had been finished, Marty had taken an unusual interest in the geology lesson. For some reason, the teacher suddenly started talking about gardening and the different kinds of soil.

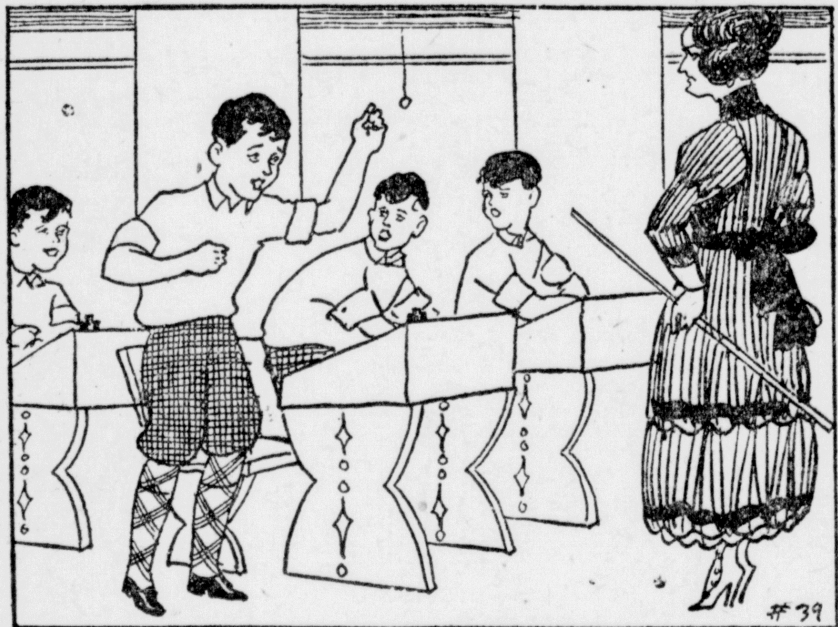

She had asked why clay soil was called heavy and someone had answered, "Because it is sticky."

"Then what is it that we mix with the heavy clay soil to make it lighter?"

No one seemed to know and all of a sudden she said, "Marty Collins, what do you say?"

Marty, who had been thinking of the Ritzie garden and their troubles with clay soil, muttered the word, "Sand."

"Correct," answered the teacher. "It is always wise to mix a little sand with clay to make it lighter."

told that they couldn't raise anything in that heavy clay soil. Not to be defeated, they had tried mixing sand and ashes with it and were now ready to plant the seeds.

Just whose idea it had been about the mixing of the sand, no one knew, and, in fact, it might not work at all, but the Ritzies had decided not to ask any more questions and be laughed at as a result. Everyone seemed to think it was a great joke that they were trying to raise a garden. The twins had heard their father say that wood ashes were good for clay and so they were sure that that part of it would turn out all right anyway.

Patsy had soaked the pea seeds the night before and they were swollen to almost twice their natural size. "That will make them take root much faster," she explained when the other Ritzies had asked what made them so big and puffy.

There were seeds enough for a row of carrots, one of peas, two of radishes and one hill of muskmelon.

"It'll work! It'll work!" cried Marty, excitedly, quite forgetful of the fact that he was still in school, until the tapping of the bell brought him to his senses.

Of course there was nothing to do then but explain how their little group had planned and worked out a garden and had used sand and ashes in hopes that this would help make things grow.

The teacher seemed very proud of him, but Marty didn't care about that. He was counting the minutes until the bell would ring so that he could tell the Ritzies that their garden would be all right and that the vegetables would really grow in spite of all their worries.

The Ritzies had so much fun with their garden that they think every boy and girl should have one. If the soil around your house is clay, you had better follow their suggestions and use sand and ashes. If it is black rich soil, you may be sure that your garden will grow nicely.

THREE INDICATE INTENTION TO SEEK CITY COMMISSION JOBS

Charles A. Kelble, present member, and E. E. Lighthiser and Jacob Kany have obtained petitions from R. E. Dunkel, clerk of the Board of Elections, preparatory to declaring their candidacy for City Commission.

Kelble is serving out the unexpired term of Harry A. Sparks, resigned. Lighthiser is ticket agent for the Dayton-Xenia Railway Co. and has been a candidate for public office before while Kany was for many years a member of the City Board of Education.

Two vacancies on the Commission are created this year when the terms of Dr. C. G. McPherson and C. A. Kelble expire. Whether Dr. McPherson will become a candidate for re-election is not certain.

Only commission candidates will be subject to an August primary election, preceding the regular November election, and no primary will be held unless five candidates, or more than twice the number of vacancies, file petitions. The final date for filing is July 9.

SPRINGFIELD BOY SCOUTS CAMPING AT YELLOW SPRINGS

Under the supervision of H. O. Portz, Scout executive, fifty-five Springfield Boy Scouts and camp officers arrived at Camp Miami on the Bryan state farm near Yellow Springs Monday, and will remain for the first camp term of two weeks, which opened Monday.

Chief Asa Siow, full-blooded Sioux Indian, who is to instruct various camp and wood crafts during the summer sessions, was introduced to the young campers at a brief camp fire in the evening. He narrated his experiences during his life with the Indians in the West and outlined the course to be taught the boys.

A regular camp fire, to which the public is invited, will be held Wednesday evening, beginning at 8:30, with Walter Humiston in charge. The temporary dam project is expected to be put in operation by the end of the week.

Scouts from Troops 1, 2, 3, 13, 15 and 19 of Springfield are housed in the eighteen tents, two teepees and a headquarters tent which comprise the equipment.

What will Pat's mother say? More complications unfold in the next installment.

My Son's Sweethearts

WHAT HAS HAPPENED:

Philip Wynne Tracy IV has had a childish engagement with Natalie Jones. Becoming interested in Lyra Hilliard, an old friend of his mother's, he soon finds he is falling in love with her.

Philip Tracy and Rodney Maxwell are among the first to enlist in the World War.

Phil's regiment is sent to the front soon after arriving in France, and Phil is wounded while on a dangerous mission. Rod is killed trying to save his friend and Phil receives the cross de guerre for bravery.

While recovering in the south of France, armistice is declared and Phil, meeting certain requirements, is awarded a scholarship in a French university and returns to Paris.

His mother, not having heard from him for months, goes to Paris to find him, and Major Auckland, who is devoted to Anne Tracy, accompanies her. Unexpectedly she comes face to face with her son.

The next morning at breakfast Phil and his mother talk things over and Mrs. Tracy learns to her consternation that Phil intends to marry a French divorcee with a four-year-old child. John Auckland tries to comfort her.

Phil and his mother visit the scene of Rod's death. Soon notices are posted that Phil's regiment is to be sent home.

Here the story further unfolds—

CHAPTER XLVII A VERY SUCCESSFUL ANNOUNCEMENT PARTY

"We will talk of that in the morning dear. I am off now."

Hastily kissing his mother, Philip left, and although Anne was sure he had gone to Pat, she was glad to be alone.

Since that first morning when they had talked of Natalie, Philip had never mentioned her name. Anne Tracy had sent her the conventional picture cards during her first week in Paris, and received no answer. If she had written to Philip, he had not wanted her to know it. He had said nothing about it.

She rather wondered what had come up that had made it so necessary that he go to see Pat this evening. Perhaps she, too, had seen the notice that the American soldiers who were at school in Paris would soon be going home.

Was it going to be another long separation from Philip? If so, should she marry John Auckland? A tender smile wreathed her lips as she thought of him. No man could be kinder to her. As though her thoughts had the power to bring him to her, at that moment he appeared in her doorway.

"All alone, Anne?"

"Yes. I think Philip had a summons to appear at the court of love. He asked me if I could not let you know that I was to be alone."

"Why did you not let me know?"

"Because it seemed to me that I have been enough bother to you."

"Anne, it is possible that you do not yet know that I would rather be with you than with anyone else on earth? I suppose you saw that Phil's comrades will be sailing soon. If he intends to be discharged on this side, he had better be making preparations."

"Yes, I told him that, and he said he would talk about it in the morning."

"Have you had your dinner?"

"No, I thought I would have a bit of something up here in my room."

"My dear, you put on your stunningest frock and that gold coat we bought the day you met Phil and we will go over to Montmartre and find the gayest and most Bohemian place I know. I think a little spice will cheer you up."

Pat's telegram had worried Phil not a little.

Although his mother did not know it, he had not seen her for four days. The message said, "Has your mother at last persuaded you not to see me any more? Come to me on receipt of this. I must know."

For the last day or two he had allowed himself to wonder a little just what the boys who had already returned were doing on Broadway.

He had even thought of a New York paper, and in it he had seen a glaring page advertisement of "KENYON & JONES CANNED MILK."

He read no more. Instead, he carried the paper over to the grate and laid it softly on the burning coals.

As he rode to Pat's apartment, he thought more than he ever had before of his future, and as always, when he thought of himself and any woman growing old together, that woman had the face and form of Natalie Jones.

"So that is in a way an 'announcement dress.'"

He rang the bell. After the usual delay, the concierge let him in.

WHAT is the matter, Wynne? Why have you not been to see me? Do you know it has been four days?

"I have been busy, Pat," he said, as he kissed her lightly on both cheeks.

"Did you see that the American soldiers who are at school here are preparing to leave for home in about six weeks?"

"Yes, dearest, yes. Don't cry so. I haven't gone yet."

"Did you tell your mother you were going to stay?"

"Yes."

Again the woman threw her arms about Phil's neck. "Dearest one, I have been bad to you. You have been making it all possible, while I have been blaming you for staying away from me. What did your mother say?"

"She did not say much. We are going to have it out in the morning."

"Oh, Wynne, my love, I know she will not let you marry."

"I hardly see, Pat, how she can help herself."

"She can prevent it in Paris. You will have to have her consent, and she will never give it."

"Don't worry, Pat. My mother never refused me anything in her life."

"Perhaps not, dear one. Perhaps not in so many words, but I think had it not been for your mother, you would have married that Natalie of whom you have told me."

"Well, anyway, I did not," Phil said, a bit impatiently. "I expect fate had already put your sign on me."

"When will you take me to your mother as your future wife, Wynne? Do you know, I am afraid of her. She can be so tall and stately and stern and grand."

Phil threw back his head and laughed at this description of his mother. "My dear girl," he said, "my mother is not as tall as you are and she has the most kind of eyes that are always asking and always receiving from everyone, love. You will love her, Pat, when you know her better."

"Perhaps, but I have never seen her eyes when they asked me to love her. I am afraid of her. I have nearly gone mad these last four days while you have been away. Do you think your mother will ever love me?"

He thanked his stars that at this moment Phil's mother had not appeared and held out her arms to him. It gave him an excuse for not answering. He did not want to lie to Pat.

Like all men who are successful with women, he always told them the truth—at least a part of it. He could. In this case he would have had to make Pat realize that he was afraid his mother would never love her, because of him.

In the first place, Anne Tracy would be jealous of her, more so than she would be of a young girl whom she might think she could bend to her suggestions.

Then Pat must be made to understand that if he ever did marry, his mother would much rather he married an American girl.

THANKS to Cherie, whom he loved and who adored him, he did not have to say this.

Pat was delighted at the display of affection between her tiny daughter and her lover, and she was all smiles when he turned to her again. He noticed that she was wearing a new gown and after complimenting her on it said, "I expect, my dear, that you did not put on all these fine feathers only for my sake, so suppose we go down to Maxime's for the evening?"

"I was going to ask you if we might do that. A number of my friends are going to be there to-night and I thought it would be a good time to make my appearance with you alone."

"So that," he said, looking her over again, "is in a way an 'announcement dress.'"

Pat dimpled. "Does it make me beautiful? Will it do?"

"You, dear, make the frock beautiful," he flattered, as he put the child down. "Come on. We'll make a stab at telling the world that another international alliance looms in the distance."

Maxime's was not quite the place that "Philip Wynne Tracy IV" would have chosen from which the public announcement of his coming marriage was to be made, but he said to himself, "This at least is one time when the lady's wishes should be law."

When he awakened the next morning, clad in silk pajamas, rather small for him, in a bedroom that he had never before seen in Pat's apartment, he told himself that it must have been a very successful announcement party.

He wondered just what was the etiquette of such contingencies in a French home.

Meeting the austere mother of Pat, promised to be rather embarrassing. However, it had never been Phil's way to sidestep the consequences of any of his impulses, conscious or unconscious, so he took his cold shower calmly, remarking to himself this had probably been the master's bedroom.

When he stepped into the salon, he found a decidedly frigid atmosphere. Pat had been crying and her mother was more unapproachable than ever. Cherie, however, bridged the chasm as she had so often done before.

"Oh, good morning, monsieur. Are you going to live with us? It is nice to have a man in that room. No man has ever been in there since my father went away."

With an inarticulate expression of disapproval, Pat's mother left the room and Pat threw herself into his arms.

"What happened?" he asked. "I guess I was spifficated."

"It was after 8 o'clock when you brought me home, dear Wynne, and I—I—asked you to come in!"

HOPE GOVERNOR AND LIBRARY TRUSTEES WILL SAVE LIBRARY

Emergency Board Re-
jects Request For State
Allotment

COLUMBUS, June 21.—Friends of the state library today were looking to Governor Vic Donahey and the library's board of trustees hoping that these state officials will work out a satisfactory plan for maintaining existing activities of the library, without interruption. The state emergency board late Monday unanimously rejected the application, submitted by Herbert S. Hirschberg, state librarian for an emergency allotment of state funds which would permit operation of the state library after June 30, next. Hirschberg's request was made because of the action of the governor who, a few days ago, vetoed the $126,000 item in the general appropriation bill designed to provide operation of the state library during the 18-month fiscal period beginning July 1, next.

The emergency board's rejection of Hirschberg's request, it was announced, was based upon a ruling by Attorney General Edward C. Turner that the board had no legal right to grant the request. The attorney general held, it was stated, that the situation resulting from the governor's veto did not constitute power to authorize expenditure of state funds except in cases of emergency.

NEW COAL PROJECT BEING ANNOUNCED

CLEVELAND, O., June 21.—Plans for an important coal development project in the Robinson Run district, near Madisonville, W. Va., were announced today by the James A. Paisley interests of Cleveland. The proposal calls for an expenditure of several hundred thousand dollars, it was said. The new mines are expected to turn out approximately 2,500 tons of coal per day. About one thousand acres of coal land will be opened by the Connelville By-Products Company, which is affiliated with the Paisley interests.

WILE SAYS:

Sheffield Through?
Andrews Holiday
And Wheeler Also
McMaster Delayed

By FREDERIC WILLIAM WILE
Exclusive Dispatch, Copyright, 1927

WASHINGTON, June 21.—When a homecoming ambassador arrives with twenty-seven crates of household furniture addressed to his regular habitant on American soil, there's reason to believe he's returned for keeps. At any rate, James Rockwell Sheffield, United States ambassador to Mexico, has just turned up this laden, and the deduction in Washington is that his days as our envoy beyond the Rio Grande are numbered. Mr. Sheffield is spending part of the week-end at the capital, reporting to Secretary Kellogg. Officially, the ambassador is home on a sixty-day furlough. He may go back to Mexico City formally to present his letters of recall—or whatever it is that a retiring foreign diplomat submits on such occasions—but insiders expect that a successor will shortly carry on at Mexico City where Sheffield left off. The ambassador is an ardent Yale man. He will be at New Haven most of next week, attending the fortieth reunion of his class ('87), of which he was the orator. Mr. Sheffield

BABE ABANDONED IN VALISE IN STATION

NEW YORK, June 21.—Police today sought the mother of an infant who abandoned the child in a valise which she checked at the Grand Central station after stuffing a wad of absorbent cotton in his mouth.

The baby's life probably was saved when one of the clerks, hearing wails coming from the valise and believing them to come from a cat, investigated.

JAPAN OPPOSES PROPOSALS

AUXILIARY SHIPS RATIO NOT FAVORED BY ADMIRAL SAITO

American Delegates
plained

GENEVA, June 21.—Proposals for the extension of naval disarmament as set forth at the tri-partite conference by Great Britain, the United States and Japan, were today turned over to the technicians for careful study.

Leaders of the delegations met and formed an executive committee and decided to organize a large technical committee to begin work studying the proposals immediately. The executive committee will re-meet on Friday.

Admiral Viscount Saito, head of the Japanese delegation, was very outspoken today in declaring that Japan will never accept a 5-5-3 ratio for auxiliary ships, a proposal which France and Italy already had rejected at the Washington conference.

Admiral Saito said he saw many difficulties ahead particularly with the British proposal for increasing the age of battleships, a proposal which Japan opposes and upon which the United States is more or less neutral.

The American delegation, finding the Japanese proposals somewhat vague, today asked the Japanese for precision. Pending receipt of greater details the Americans are loath to form any opinion on the Japanese proposals.

The first rapid study of the three sets of proposals proved to the American delegates that many weeks work probably will be necessary before any definite compromise is possible.

Although the Americans realize that everyone is willing to make some concessions, nevertheless the proposals are now so far apart that it is evident that much hard work lies ahead.

The Japanese proposal to reduce the age limit of auxiliary ships below what the United States naval experts have always considered advisable makes it certain that many American warships due to become obsolete shortly, already would be scrapped for scrap.

On the other hand, Japan's recent building program of auxiliary ships would give her an advantage on what the present comparative figures show.

Guessing at what Japan means, American experts computed that, if the Japanese proposal were adopted, it would give the Japanese a ratio in auxiliary ships and submarines of approximately 3.7 to the United States five, while the British ratio would be still even higher than that of the United States.

American experts consider the British proposals incomplete, holding that they insist too much upon altering and amending the Washington treaty. The British suggest applying the 5-5-3 ratio only to cruisers of 10,000 tons.

If Great Britain should insist upon serious consideration of her proposal in toto, it is believed here that it would be necessary to defer action for several years until France and Italy can be brought into a conference to reconsider the problems of the Washington treaty.

PARDON SAVES AGED SYNDICALIST FROM SERVING SENTENCE

California Governor Acts
In Case Of Anita
Whitney

SACRAMENTO, Cal., June 21.—A pardon by Gov. C. C. Young today saved Miss Anita Whitney, 60-year-old social service worker of Oakland, from a penitentiary sentence for criminal syndicalism.

Seven years ago, the Oakland philanthropist was convicted of membership in the communist labor party. The court sentenced her to serve from one to four years in San Quentin prison, for violation of the syndicalism act. After a long struggle in the courts, the supreme court upheld her conviction several weeks ago.

Then began a state-wide campaign to bring about her pardon. Governor Young was deluged with letters asking him to review the case carefully. The present pardon followed the executive's investigation.

"To condemn her, at 60 years of age, to a felon's cell is unthinkable," Governor Young declared. "Whatever may be thought of the folly of her misdirected sympathies, her lifelong friendship for the unfortunate is ample proof that she is not criminal in any sense of the word."

LINDY MAY FLEE SPOTLIGHT

FLYERS WILL LEAVE SOON FOR HONOLULU

Lieutenants Maitland And Hagenberger From Day-
ton Admit Plans For Hawaii Hop—Leave
Frisco Between July 1 and 14.

SAN DIEGO, June 21.—Lt. Lester Maitland, one of the army's outstanding pilots, and Lt. Albert Hagenberger, will hop off from San Francisco for Honolulu in a tri-motored Fokker monoplane some time between July 1 and 14, Maitland announced today following his arrival from Dayton, O.

Plainly annoyed by the advance publicity attending the flight, Maitland said he endeavored to keep the flight a secret until the actual time of the take-off. When he discovered that this could not be done, he revealed the complete details of the flight.

He said his tri-motored monoplane will carry 1,040 gallons of gasoline and will weigh 13,400 pounds at the time of the take-off for the trans-Pacific hop. His motors will consume about thirty gallons of gasoline an hour. He expects to reach Honolulu in thirty hours.

Maitland declared it is imperative for him to start from San Francisco rather than San Diego because of the shorter flight distance involved.

The Fokker monoplane was built by the Atlantic aircraft corporation of Hasbrouck Heights, N. J., and delivered to the army last February. It has a wing spread of 72 feet.

The American delegates at the Geneva Arms Conference will not deviate very far from the program of limitation formulated in Washington and presented to the conference by Hugh S. Gibson yesterday. It was stated today in authoritative circles.

While it is far too early to talk of "ultimatums" or "last words," the fact remains, it was said today, that the program presented by Gibson goes about as far as it is possible to go without putting the United States navy in a position of decided inferiority to Great Britain and Japan. Some give and take will be necessary. It is anticipated here, but the basic features of the American program are not likely to be altered.

The British counter-proposals are wholly unacceptable to the United States. The more closely they were examined today by naval experts here the more unsatisfactory they became. Japan's proposals, however, somewhat vague, are not understood in Washington. Japan apparently is insisting upon a ratio of auxiliary ships greater than that allotted to her in capital ships under the 1921 agreement. This of course, is unsatisfactory to the United States.

It was upon the British proposals, however, that naval experts have centered their attention. The evidences of Anglo-American understanding and agreement that were so marked in Washington five years ago apparently are absent at Geneva, for the British program conflicts with the vital points of a professional agency while in New York.

The American proposition simply suggests the application of the 5-5-3 ratio to all auxiliary naval craft. It is the essence of simplicity—and, from the American viewpoint, eminently fair to all concerned, in view of the fact that both powers already have subscribed to the justice of the 5-5-3 ratio as applied to capital ships.

Against this, however, the British have advanced a series of cleverly devised proposals which not only aim at re-opening the Washington treaty, but would make well nigh incalculable changes in the present-day naval construction.

The heart of the British program lies in the proposal that cruisers be limited to 7,500 tons and that guns be reduced from 8 inch to 6-inch. All of the newer American cruisers, built and building are 10,000 tons and bear 8-inch guns.

Los Angeles, June 21.—Lines were drawn today for a legal battle between Pola Negri and her new husband Serge Mdivani and James R. Quirk, publisher of a motion picture magazine, over the legality of Mdivani's title of Prince of Georgia.

Quirk faces a $500,000 damage suit unless he retracts the statement in his magazine that Pola's husband is not really a prince, the actress declared.

"When Mr. Quirk says things about my family—my husband—he must apologize or we will sue him," she said.

"Great," retorted Quirk, "We will welcome the suit. Quirk previously had declared he would neither apologize or retract. 'What I wrote is correct—it goes as it stands,' he said.

Pola and her husband of a month consulted Attorney Shirley Meserve. The threat of the half million damage suit followed.

Quirk retained Attorney Milton Cohen.

AIR ACE POSTPONES TOUR; WILL DEVOTE TIME TO BUSINESS

May Visit Dayton In Spite Of Plan To Delay Tour

ST. LOUIS, Mo., June 21.—Eager to return to the ranks as a private citizen, Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh today sought to abandon the spotlight as a world hero.

The "lone eagle" will postpone his contemplated aerial tour of the country for several weeks and probably until late in July. In the meantime he will devote himself to negotiating the first steps of a business career, to writing a book of his trans-Atlantic flight and to seeking rest as an ordinary mortal.

Lindbergh will decline temporarily all invitations from a clamorous and adoring public for personal appearances, it was said, with two possible exceptions. He was reported favorably inclined toward an early acceptance of an invitation from the Canadian government for a visit to America's northern neighbor. It was said he also felt he should visit Dayton, Ohio, because all airmen look upon that city—the home of the Wrights—as the "birthplace of aviation."

The air hero will leave St. Louis tomorrow or Thursday for the east, presumably to visit Washington and New York. While in the national capital, he will confer with government officials over the invitation of the Canadian government and with navy officers of the technical aspects of his trans-Atlantic flight.

He hopes to fly east in the "Spirit of St. Louis," to show the public how easy it is to commute in a plane across half the country. Lindy and his advisers here have been stumped by the problem of arranging his proposed aerial tour. None of his advisers has had any experience with such matters and Lindy will probably invoke the assistance of a professional agency while in New York.

Those invitations, which specified certain dates were being declined today in letters forwarded in behalf of Lindy, by Thomas N. Dysart, an investment broker and friend of the youth.

"I am authorized to say that Col. Lindbergh will not accept any invitations which specify certain dates," said Dysart.

"Invitations," which ask him to come at his convenience, will be acknowledged and the colonel will give them all careful consideration.

"I personally cannot see how he will be able to fill any engagements until next month. He needs a complete rest and he must work upon his book."

Harold M. Bixby, St. Louis banker and one of Lindy's financial backers, corroborated Dysart. The banker said Lindy might visit Washington and New York on business but would not fulfill any other engagements for several weeks to come. He added that a formal announcement of Lindy's plans for the immediate future would be made during the day.

The youthful air hero needs several weeks to consider the business offers, already made him, it was learned. There are now 50,000 letters awaiting his consideration at the St. Louis chamber of commerce, thousands of which relate to business matters.

Lindy has one more formal engagement to keep here before he goes east. He has promised to attend a banquet of the Industrial Club of St. Louis tonight. Then his plan is to become a private citizen again for several weeks at least.

DAYTON, O., June 21.—Authorities here are investigating the death of Sylvester V. Daneman, 35, who died in a hospital of a fractured skull late Monday. He was found in an unconscious condition in his home by his parents last week.

Correspondents informed him of the glorious achievement of "Shipwreck" Kelly, who survived for twelve days atop a fifty-foot flapole in Newark, N. J., and who has dedicated his life to the future of flap-ole sitting.

Strong winds prevented King Winter from making an even longer record, he said. The winds were from the south and were too warm, causing his motor to become overheated.

Both camps were agreed on the need for a change in the existing freight rate structure. It is claimed the central field is failing to read the advantages of its accessibility to heavy coal consuming sections.

Divortions

Leonard Kip Rhinelander, scion of one of New York's proudest families, is reported to have established a residence in Reno preparatory to divorcing his dusky wife, Alice Jones Rhinelander. Last year Rhinelander lost a sensational court fight to have his marriage to the girl annulled.

COAL WAGE DISPUTE OBJECT OF MEETING FOR CONCILIATION

Illinois Miners And
Operators Seeking
Solution

CHICAGO, June 21.—Illinois miners and operators today got down to the task of trying to solve the wage dispute which since April has tied up virtually all union soft coal mining in Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois.

It was the first major attempt at conciliation since the suspension and because more than 70,000 men are employed in the Illinois mines and the points at issue in this state are typical of the entire central competitive field, the conference was expected to reveal whether a general agreement can be reached.

Harry Fishwick, president of the Illinois Miners and Rice Miller, head of the operators were the central figures at the conference. Both professed uncertainty over the prospects for an agreement.

Termination of the so-called Jacksonville contract, under which miners received a minimum of $7.50 for day labor, caused the suspension.

The operators said they could not renew the contract and make a profit in competition with the non-union West Virginia and Kentucky fields. The miners said they could not take a reduction.

Complicating the problem were various side-issues, including the installation of labor-saving machinery, over which operators and miners have clashed in times past.

Little of the rancor which has characterized miner-operator meetings in the past was noticeable today. The miners walked off their jobs knowing 11 millions, at least, that no attempts would be made to forcibly break the tie-up.

Under existing state laws strike-breaking would be all but impossible.

Both camps were agreed on the need for a change in the existing freight rate structure. It is claimed the central field is failing to read the advantages of its accessibility to heavy coal consuming sections.

AMERICA WILL TAKE FOURTH PASSENGER COMMANDER STATES

Test Pilot Added To
Fokker Crew—Await
Good Weather

ROOSEVELT FIELD, N. Y., June 21.—Commander Richard E. Byrd announced today that he expects to hop off at dawn tomorrow for Europe in the three-motored Fokker monoplane America.

He also revealed the fourth man who will make the trip. He is Lieut. Bernt Balchen, of Carlstadt, N. J., who for the last seven years has been a test pilot for the Fokker company. Balchen is 28 years old, unmarried, and a Norwegian who has just taken out his American naturalization papers.

"Weather conditions are improving and it won't be long now before we get away," said Byrd. He was asked why a fourth man was going along.

"So that we can show that we can carry a passenger, if for no other reason," Byrd replied.

Besides Byrd and Balchen the trans-Atlantic flight will be made by Bert Acosta, pilot, and Lieut. George O. Noville, the radio expert.

All four are experienced flyers. Acosta was with Clarence Chamberlin when he established a world's endurance flight record several months ago.

Balchen was standing beside the silver-bodied America in its hangar here when Byrd made the announcement that he was going on the trip. Balchen beamed. Byrd said that Balchen was "an unusual fellow" and would prove a great help on the flight over the ocean.

"Balchen deserves to go in view of what he did for me during the flight over the North Pole," said Byrd. "He is an all-around man. He knows the plane thoroughly, is a good navigator, a pilot and understands radio."

Byrd indicated he was eager to get away. If he does not get off about 5 o'clock tomorrow he probably will wait until sunset. A sunset take-off would land him in Europe in daytime, however, it has become no longer a matter of personal preference and Byrd is going to take off as soon as the storms west of the coast of Ireland clear away.

He is going to fly a route a little further south than the great circle taken by Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh.

SPEAKERS HEARD AT TEACHERS' MEETING

CEDAR POINT, O., June 21.—Dr. Robert S. Vinson, president of Western Reserve University, Cleveland; Congressman James T. Begg of Sandusky, and Congressman Martin L. Davey, Kent, were speakers at the first session of the eighth annual convention of the Ohio Teachers Association here today.

In his talk this morning, Dr. Vinson declared that the key to the future is held by educators. Begg talked of China and the Philippines expressing the belief, based on his personal observation a year ago, that the Philippines are not ready for independence.

Davey discussed education and legislation, contending that only educated law makers can make good laws.

The afternoon program was to be in charge of the Parent-Teacher division of the Teachers Association.

Dr. Edwin Holt Hughes, Methodist Episcopal bishop of Chicago, was to speak at tonight's session.

WILL ASK HUNGARY TO QUIT LEAGUE

BUDAPEST, June 21.—A resolution demanding that Hungary withdraw from the League of Nations will be introduced in the Hungarian parliament tomorrow by Deputy Lokas of the government party.

Baron Joseph Perenyi in the upper house today recommended withdrawal from the league.

Hungarians are greatly dissatisfied with the treatment they have received at the hands of the league, particularly with reference to matters concerning the control of their own finances.

BOY SCOUTS ATTEND FUNERAL OF PATRON

MARION, O., June 21.—Marion County Boy Scouts today were preparing to attend the funeral of Vance Carpenter, 30, who was killed at a Boy Scout camp last night when he came in contact with a high power electric power line. Carpenter had volunteered his services and was working at the camp at the time of the accident. His widow and two children survive.

DO BUSINESS WITH STOREKEEPERS YOU KNOW

Shopping is a serious business, as every housewife knows. It is nothing but good sense to make it as pleasant as possible.

Use your hometown stores. The merchants in your community are your neighbors, and your friends. You can trust them.

In an emergency, when unexpected guests arrive, or hubby brings home an important out-of-town customer for dinner, what a convenience to have somebody you can trust at the other end of your telephone wire!

But, is it fair to use your hometown stores just for emergencies? Isn't that rather like taking a mean advantage of their proximity, their eagerness to serve their friends?

When you buy out of town you are dealing with a card index system, with a catalogue for a display window, and the money goes away from home.

When you buy in your hometown, you are buying from people you know, and the money stays right where you are.

Buy at home, all the time. It's the fair thing to do for the community, and it's the clever thing to do for yourself.

WRECKAGE MAY TELL STORY OF AVIATORS

RIO JANEIRO, June 21.—The fate of Captain St. Roman and his comrades, who hopped off from Africa several weeks ago on a trans-Atlantic hop to South America and have not been heard from since, now seems likely to be cleared up.

Portions of what appears to be a float made from airplane wings have been picked up outside of Para, the national telegraph bureau reports.

Experts believe that St. Roman was forced down near the coast of Brazil and when his plane threatened to sink made a float of the wings of the plane and fought to keep himself and comrades afloat until they were picked up, but they drifted out of the ship routes and were finally forced to give up the struggle.

EAST END NEWS

The Rev. Samuel Blades, E. Church St., preached a soul-stirring sermon at the Zion Baptist Church, Jeffersonville, Sunday morning, at 11 o'clock, from the text found in Rev. Fifth chapter, second verse. His theme was "The Conquering Christ, our adoration." The Rev. Henry Smith, of E. Church St., preached an equally good sermon on "The New Birth" in the evening.

Thousands Have Hepatic Torpidity And Don't Know It

If You Fear An Operation Because of Gall Bladder Trouble or Gall Stones, Watch These Signs.

Perhaps you don't know whether you have this trouble or not, but if you are bothered with dizzy spells, headaches, shortness of breath, gas in stomach and bowels, pressure or sharp pains in right side that often shoot through to the back, coated tongue, bad breath, lack of ambition, weakness, nervousness and nights of restless misery—you probably are a victim of this health destroying menace that fills your system with poison and may mean a dangerous surgical operation unless checked at once!

Folk near or past middle life are especially liable to hepatic torpidity, gall bladder trouble or gall stones—and in the opinion of the writer one of the best things in the world for conditions of this kind is the regular home use of "Klax-Ko" tablets which Sayre's Drug Store and other good druggists supply on a binding guarantee to refund their small cost if genuinely beneficial results are not obtained inside of a week. Klax-Ko tablets have brought new life and health to hundreds, and they must positively do the same for you or their use will not cost you a penny. Try them today.

Acid Stomach

"Phillips Milk of Magnesia" Better than Soda

Hereafter, instead of soda take a little "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" in water any time for indigestion or sour, acid, gassy stomach, and relief will come instantly.

For fifty years genuine "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" has been prescribed by physicians because it overcomes three times as much acid in the stomach as a saturated solution of bicarbonate of soda, leaving the stomach sweet and free from all gases. It neutralizes acid fermentations in the bowels and gently urges the souring waste from the system without purging. Besides, it is more pleasant to take than soda. Insist upon "Phillips." Twenty-five cent and fifty cent bottles, any drug store. "Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Co. and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875.

NEWARK "Y" YOUTHS

ENTERTAINED HERE

ON EDUCATION TOUR

Forty Newark boys making a tour of southern Ohio in a special bus, under the leadership of A. J. Black, of the Newark Y. M. C. A., former teacher at the McKinley school here, visited Xenia Monday and were royally entertained.

The boys are all members of the Newark Y. M. C. A. and arrived here at 4 p. m. after spending the previous night in Cincinnati and exploring Fort Ancient earlier in the day.

The party was met on the Bellbrook Pike outside the city by a delegation of Xenia Boy Scouts, under Scoutmaster J. J. Stout who escorted the visitors on an inspection trip of the two twin mills and the O. S. & O. Home.

The boys were later honor guests at a dinner at the Second U. P. Church.

Following the dinner served by the Fourth Division of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Church, a program was held with J. H. Nagley as toastmaster.

Mayor John W. Prugh delivered a welcoming address to which A. J. Black responded. Brief talks were also given by Mrs. Milo Snodgrass, on behalf of the mothers of the city, and Mrs. W. O. Cusick, who spoke of the high regard in which the former Xenia teacher is held by his acquaintances.

Other talks were given by Miss Elsie Canby, president of the Xenia Business and Professional Women's Club; Karl Babb, representing the Kiwanis Club, and Wilson W. Galloway, Cedarville, who at one time was physical director of the Newark Y. M. C. A., leaving his position in 1916. Nearly 100 people attended the dinner. Several of the boys in the group also talked briefly.

The party drove to the Bryan state farm near Yellow Springs at 7:15 the same evening and camped in the open over night, hiking back to the village early Tuesday morning, where breakfast was enjoyed at the Antioch Tea Room. The tourists went to London shortly before noon and expected to return to Newark Tuesday night.

PROSECUTOR STILL

SILENT REGARDING

FINDINGS IN REPORT

Prosecutor J. C. Marshall continued to maintain silence Tuesday day on what action, if any, he proposed to take regarding findings totalling more than $1200 returned against three members of the Xenia Twp., education board.

The findings were contained in the report of Oia P. Gunkel, state school examiner, and charged Harlan Anderson, B. D. Conklin and Frank Weaver with buying coal for township schools from the Xenia Farmers Exchange although they were at the time stockholders in the Farmers Exchange.

The report cites the state law which makes that offense punishable by terms of one to ten years in the penitentiary. Prosecutor Marshall refused to comment on the situation Tuesday. In the meantime a statement from D. H. Barnes, clerk of the board, reveals that the board only recently purchased a new supply of coal from the Xenia Farmers Exchange.

The statement says that the Xenia Farmers Exchange presented the only bid after bids were advertised for by newspaper.

Officers were elected at the meeting of Beaver Creek "Kitchenhands" Food Club at the home of the leader, Mrs. Clyde Royer, Thursday. Pauline Coy was elected president; Louise Ferguson, secretary; Margaretta DeBord, treasurer; Dorothy DeBord, news reporter. The club name was also chosen. STEMMERY EMPLOYEES STRIKE;

POLICE RESTORE ORDER AT PLANT

Approximately 200 colored women stemmers at the Xenia Stemmer Branch of the American Cigar Co., W. Second St., went on a strike early Tuesday morning in protest against a new wage scale placed in effect by the company last Friday, designed to save the employees time in stemming tobacco and increase their wage-earning capacity.

Police were called to quell any disturbances but had no difficulty in maintaining order as the walk-out was a peaceable one. The stemming force of 350 is made up entirely of women, a majority of whom are colored. Of these, between fifty and 100 remained at work. Manager E. E. Boxwell dismissed half a dozen women, who were apparently responsible for the trouble.

Under the former wage system, the stemmers received forty cents for stemming eight pounds of tobacco. Under the new system, they would receive fifty cents for ten pounds, and fewer "weigh-ups" would be made necessary. The stemmers approved of the ten cent increase but objected to the added two pounds of tobacco, necessary to equalize the increased pay, thinking they would be required to stem more tobacco for less money.

Patrolmen Fred Jones, Charles Thompson, Ed Craig and Peter Shagin remained at the stemmery during the morning to keep order. Company officials believe the controversy will be adjusted. It was the first strike in the stemmery's history.

Old Folks Say Doctor

Caldwell was Right

The basis of treating sickness has not changed since Dr. Caldwell left Medical College in 1875, nor since he placed on the market the laxative prescription he had used in his practice, known to druggists and the public since 1892, as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

Then, the treatment of constipation, biliousness, headaches, mental depression, indigestion, sour stomach and other indispositions that result from constipation was entirely by means of simple vegetable laxatives herbs and roots. These are still the basis of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which is a combination of senna and other mild laxative herbs, with pepsin.

The simpler the remedy for constipation, the safer for the child and for you, and the better for the general health of all. And as you can get results in a mild safe way by using Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, why take chances with strong drugs?

A bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin will last a family several months, and all can use it. It is good for the baby because pleasant to the taste, gentle in action, and free from narcotics. In the proper dose, given in the directions, it is equally effective at all ages. Elderly people will find it especially ideal. All drug stores have the generous bottles.

We would be glad to have you prove at our expense how much Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin can mean to you and yours. Just write "Syrup Pepsin," Monticello, Illinois, and we will send you prepaid a FREE SAMPLE BOTTLE.

THE TEACHER IS TARDY

About the time a man becomes old enough to understand that the way of the transgressor really is hard, and no joking, he finds that he is so old that nobody is even interested in his transgressions. So far as society is concerned he may keep right on transgressing if he is having any fun out of it. All of which is very humiliating to one who in youth and middle age has considered himself equally good in a 100-yard transgression dash or a mile run.

People, he has found, feel perfectly safe to poke a dead snake.

Experience, of course, is the best teacher, but she begins her instructions so late in life that they are out of date before they can be put into practice, and then they are about as happy as the undertaker's stale joke with which he attempts to cheer up the family of the late lamented.

In youth we pay no attention to precepts, and in old age, when we are perfectly willing to heed them if they will cure our rheumatism, pay the grocer or get us back the money we've gambled away, we find that like the flowers which bloom in the spring, they have nothing to do with the case.

AVIATION

Will Rogers says it was just as easy for the second plane to fall in the Atlantic ocean as the first.

His commentary is an effective answer to the criticism that has attended the successful trans-Atlantic flight of Chamberlin and Levine.

Lloyd Bertaud, air mail pilot, originally scheduled to accompany Chamberlin, began this criticism when he attacked both the flight and its motives. His remarks were in exceeding bad taste.

Every achievement in aviation is a spurt to greater deeds. When Rodgers crossed the country in two months and slightly more than three hours actual flying time, he set a mark for future pilots to shoot at. If some other aviator, even a flier of another nation, beats the Chamberlin and Levine distance record, more power to them. It will inspire American aviators to make a new record.

How to Achieve Beauty

SUN AND WINDPROOFING YOUR COMPLEXION

Today I am going to talk about sun and windproofing your complexion because summer is just beginning and in beauty culture as well as in other things, an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure.

Modern chemistry has made possible amazing beauty achievements in the creating of beauty preparations which neutralize the violet or burning rays of the sun. The faithful use of these before going out of doors which refreshes, soothes and cools the skin as well.

If your face feels slightly chapped after being out in the air for several hours, wash it in fresh milk or sweet cream, leaving it on for five or ten minutes, if possible, or use a good skin-toning lotion which possesses the beneficial qualities of milk or cream in addition to being scientifically compounded and much more delightful to employ.

To prevent sunburn, tan and we all indulge in so much in summer plays havoc with the skin unless the necessary preventive measures are followed. To counteract its ill effects, never permit acute rays of the sun are strong yourself to go motoring without first applying as a foundation for texture.

your usual make-up a layer of sun and windproof cream, or if you like something of lighter consistency, use a sun and windproof cream. Then, when you return from your drive, or at the end of a strenuous day, give yourself a short beauty treatment, using your cleansing cream, beautifying skin-lotion, and that is: after having given yourself a complete beauty treatment using the three steps to possible amazing beauty achievements in the creating of beauty preparations which neutralize the violet or burning rays of the sun. The Theatre

During a recently held convention of the major motion picture producers, where modern trends and demands in film production have been discussed by veterans in the industry, D. W. Griffith, who is responsible for many fine films in this country, expressed the belief that flapper love and petting parties in the films are doomed.

He says that films must have something more to offer than youth in its most foolish stage. That audiences are "bored to death" with the exhibition of puppy love and the general run of present-day motion picture drama. He thinks the more serious tales of adult experiences are to come into the limelight again. And yet, does the public want this kind of pictures?

Nowhere is the world as youth celebrated to such an extent as in America. Often, inexperienced and immature youngsters, with no claim whatsoever to the word "artist," except a pair of shapely legs or a slick, shiny head that contains little idea of what art really is, are brought forward as "artists."

All the while, experienced artists, who have back of them years of experience and excellent talent, are held back because of the lacking qualities of "flaming youth." In general, motion picture audiences are not the carefully planning or the thoughtfully discriminating kind. Most of them go to the movies to "kill time," and pictures are often seen because of their bonfire scenes rather than their fine dramatic value. It would thus seem that producers will have to struggle hard to create a desire for the "finer and sounder" things on the screen.

Jack Mulhall and Colleen Moore will be co-features in "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling." It is a tale of romance laid in Ireland and America. ... George E. Dice was taken quite ill this week. The Rev. R. Ames Montgomery, D. D., will be the preacher at the Antioch Chautauque Sunday. Rural mail carriers must now have the right of way on the roads when they are delivering mail on their routes. Citizens of Cedarville are making elaborate arrangements for a Fourth of July celebration.

Keeping HEALTHY
By Dr. A. F. Currier

CIRRHOSIS OF THE LIVER The human liver weighs up to four pounds and is the largest organ in the body. It has many diseases which are of common occurrence among the masses.

He also is jaundiced and his kidneys secrete very little urine, indeed there is now very little help for him, death will surely come quickly.

The worst thought of all is that the disease might have been prevented, at least if it were due to alcohol, though it is not impossible that it may come from other causes.

The only thing to be done when the disease is fairly established, is to try and make the patient as comfortable as possible, withholding alcohol and all excitants, like spices, coffee and tea.

He must avoid heat and cold, live on milk and plain soups, keep his bowels freely open with alkaline mineral waters.

Massage and suitable baths will often relieve the situation and retard effusion of fluid into the cavities of the body.

The patient must sleep as much as possible, day and night, and his surroundings must be cheerful as the circumstances will permit.

Ask Dr. Currier that medical question that has been puzzling you. Confine your letter to fifty words and send stamped, addressed envelope for reply. He cannot, of course, make individual diagnoses, and he reserves the right to decide as to the propriety of queries.

THAT VOLSTEAD ACT! NEW YORK.—Karl, who is a smoke-room steward on the Resolute of the Hamburg American line, deplores the fact that United States passengers are moderate drinkers. He has just completed a trip around the world aboard his vessel, and during his voyage his opinion of the American as a liquor addict took a considerable slump.

Men are more subject to it than women, especially between the ages of 35 and 50 and with it is often associated an enlargement of the spleen.

When the last mentioned condition arrives the stomach and intestines have usually given out, the feet and legs begin to swell, and fluid will be poured from the enlarged blood vessels into the abdominal and other cavities of the body.

This fluid must be removed at once.

SONGS of a HOUSEWIFE CERS By Marjorie K. Rawlings

THE OLD HOME TOWN THE old home-town is the only place Where even strangers know your face Through family likeness, and declare "That must be Jane's girl over there!"

And there the village gossip halts To call to mind your childhood faults, The fearful things you did when small, Your sins with stone and bat and ball.

The dogs that pass you on the street, The very children that you meet, All seem to recognize and know This was your name, too, long ago.

And in the old home-town there lives The warmth that long acquaintance gives: And as the friendly tea-pot smokes, Old ladies nod, "I knew your folks!"

MILLER ELECTRIC SHOP OPENED TO PUBLIC SATURDAY

Arthur V. Miller arranged an interesting exhibit of lighting processes of various ages as a window feature of the opening of the new Miller Electric Shop, 34 W. Main St., opened to patrons for the first time Saturday.

Pottery oil-burning lamps of 600 B. C., 200 B. C., and 300 A. D. were the earliest of the lighting forms exhibited. The next era showed brass oil-burning lamps of 1,000 and 1,600 A. D. The candle and candle stick of 1800 and the gasoline lamp of 1850 showed next steps in lighting.

A coal oil lamp depicted the period of 1870 and a crude electric bulb as introduced in 1890 was the next step shown. Successive-ly the clear Mazda of 1910, the white Mazda of 1926, and finally the Mazda of 1926 with the frosted inside, showed the modern forms of lighting.

The new shop occupies the room formerly used by the Xenia Paige Co. It will handle electric fixtures and devices, Ortho-sonic radios and do electrical wiring contracts.

IT WAS IN the PAPER

Did you READ it?

Here are six questions dealing with news events of the past few days which have been reported in The Evening Gazette and The Morning Republican. Can you answer them accurately? If you can, you may claim credit as a really intelligent reader; but if you fail, that means you merely skim the news, as so many people do. Answers on Classified Page.

1. Where did President and Mrs. Coolidge attend church on Sunday, June 19? Who was the preacher?
2. What famous comedian recently underwent a major operation? Where was the operation performed?
3. What is the United States' position at the Geneva arms conference?
4. What state executive has recently been host to John Coolidge, only son of the president?
5. What United States ambassador is now in this country having a series of interviews with the secretary of state?
6. What is the purpose of Commander Byrd's trans-Atlantic flight?

MAKING MODERN MENUS

Mrs. Brown—"What quantities of rhubarb you have in your garden?" Mrs. Jones—"Yes, I'm going to put some up this very afternoon. I have two recipes—

SPRING MARMALADE

Two pounds rhubarb, one pound pineapple, one pound strawberries, three pounds sugar.

Cut the rhubarb into half-inch pieces, shred the pineapple, hull the berries and add the sugar. Stir gently over the fire until sugar is dissolved. Cook slowly and stir often until the marmalade is thick—about an hour and a half. When one drop hangs like a thread from the spoon it is thick enough. If a jellied marmalade is desired, commercial pectin may be used. Either the pineapple or the berries may be omitted and the other fruit doubled in quantity. Half a pound of raisins may be added just before the jam is done with any of the fruit combinations.

ORANGE AND RHUBARB MARMALADE

Six oranges, four pounds sugar, five pounds rhubarb. Remove, peel in quarters from oranges and cut in thin slices with scissors. Divide oranges in sections, remove seeds and fiber. Put into large kettle, add rhubarb, cut in half-inch pieces. Boil thirty minutes, then add sugar and orange rind. Cook slowly one hour or more until thick. Turn into glasses and seal with paraffin.

A SAD ROMANCE

CHICAGO.—"As a husband, Raymond Roderick was a perfect locomotive engineer," says the missus. In her plea for divorce she declared that he was constantly referring affectionately to the railroad system, and called his engine endearing names. She put the brakes on their honeymoon express when, upon suggesting they seek a home, he answered her with the following poem: "My shiny engine cab is the only home for me. I really couldn't bear to have another! Besides, I'm away, darling, almost every day. Why pay the rent when you can stay with mother."

Little Old New York

NEW YORK, June 21.—When Lindbergh was signed up by the New York Times, before he left for Paris, to write the story of his flight, the Times offered him $5,000 for his daily stories, an offer contingent, of course, upon his reaching Europe safely; because if he disappeared like Nungesser and Colli there would be no story.

Lindbergh, then unused to large sums of money as he is now, was somewhat afraid that the offer was too generous and wanted to know if the Times would not get some of the money back. "There are ways of syndicating such articles, aren't there?" he asked, "so you may get some of this money back?"

There were; but there were few orders for the story from other newspapers until word came in that Lindbergh had been seen off the coast of Ireland. Then the Times was delayed with orders.

The Times has turned over to Lindbergh the profits on the series of articles. The profits to date amount to over $60,000.

F. P. A. and some of the other columnists of New York have doubted that Lindbergh wrote the articles about his flight and his reception abroad. They have suggested that it is physically impossible for a person whose days have been so crowded as Lindbergh's have, to find time to write the articles. They have given it as their opinion that Lindbergh told what he wanted to say to some good newspaper man and that the latter did the actual writing.

Well, Lindbergh did the seemingly impossible once in flying from New York to Paris. He has done the seemingly impossible thing of writing his daily articles himself amid all his distractions. Manuscripts of his articles are in the Times office, nearly every word of which is in his own handwriting. Some paragraphs he dictated to a stenographer.

Walter Winchell relates this story of a local Lucy Stone League, a Lucy Stone League, being (if you have forgotten) a married woman who refuses to merge her identity with that of her husband by adopting his name and insists upon being called "Miss" and her maiden name.

Alison Smith, who is a member of the Lucy Stone league, is married to Russell Crouse, a writer. At a party recently she started to introduce her husband to a group.

She said: "Meet my husband, Mr. Crouse." "Mr. Crouse," interrupted her husband, handing her his card.

The puzzling point is that Alison Smith is not Russell Crouse's wife's maiden name. Her first husband was named Smith.

Ernest Boyd says that the Lucy Stone League was an organization of women who were fighting for the rights of married women to be mistaken for unmarried women.

Promenades of an impressionist: There is an illuminated globe on top of the Paramount theater building which glows with a white light, exception that on ever quarter of an hour it turns into a red four separate times. The Prince Albert electric sign at Columbus circle blurs all day most of the time because some one forgets to switch it off. Ever since Lindbergh said that New York had the finest police force he had ever seen, the New York cops have been spick and span and their chests are out a couple of inches beyond normal.

The cops did handle that crowd pretty well, considering the fact that their clubs were taken away from them for the day by the police commissioner. Still, one reporter had to show his pass ten times in one block to as many policemen.

The Dutch Treat club is so accustomed to having only the cream of entertainers and talkers speak at the club's Tuesday luncheons that whenever a guest puts on a poor show, the club members refuse to be any too polite about it. And if you appear before the Dutch Treat club, you must come prepared to take a kidding, if any of the members are inclined to do it.

Otherwise the audience wouldn't be prepared to un-derstand or follow what the character is up to.

In "real life the gentlemanish amount of crook may take us in because he looks perfectly honest. He should look honest; it is his best business asset." But on the stage, he must look enough like a crook for the audience to be forewarned that they see him.

The author probably was itching to go on and explain that audience, like any group of human beings, dislikes to have its cherished beliefs upset. A successful chautauqua lecturer usually sends his audience home still certain that the things they have always thought are true. Thus they are spared the ordeal of having to change their minds, and have a much happier evening than if they had been compelled to become suspicious of long-established convictions.

If there had never been a President Coolidge, and a man of the Coolidge type were cast in a play day life. The stage director who shows a type truthfully, might only befuddle the audience, which has its own notion of what a portrait painter or a United States senator should look like. About his office in a comfortable flannel shirt and knickers such as he may wear at his country place? His customers, knowing that a banker doesn't dress that way, would be suspicious of him. He must meet their expectations of what he should look like.

JUNIOR BUSINESS MEN AVEGE ONLY DEFEAT OF SEASON

Avenge the only defeat they have sustained this season, the Junior Business Men won their seventh Xenia Playgroup League game by defeating the Rotary Club 20 to 8 Monday night at Cox Memorial Athletic Field.

The contest was hotly contested for six innings but the winners chased eight runs across the plate in the seventh and followed up with four more in the ninth.

Rotarians scored all of their runs in the first four innings and were retired scoreless in the final five stanzas. Hy Hyman pitched for the league leaders, and after a bad start, hurled in his usual impressive fashion, being particularly effective in the latter innings. Kimmer, Rotary twirler, was knocked out of the box in the seventh and Tull finished the game.

Earlier in the season the Rotary had inflicted the only defeat the Junior Business Men have received this season, winning out in the final inning. The Junior Business Men are now leading the league by two and one-half games.

FUN FOR THE WHOLE FAMILY

The Rovin' Ritzies

By Flo Frederick

Marty forgets that he's in school and disobeys the silence rule. When Patsy had asked her mother if she could clean out the fireplace grate, Mrs. Collins was almost too surprised to say "yes." Why any little girl should wish to come in the house on a beautiful sunny day and clean out the fireplace was more than she could understand, but when she had asked the reason Patsy had only nodded her head and said she couldn't tell as it was a garden secret.

Mrs. Collins was not very much surprised at this. As both Patsy and Marty were members of the Ritzie club, she was quite used to unusual requests. The Ritzies were always up to something and she felt sure that this garden secret of Patsy's was a Ritzie secret as well.

Her guess was right. The Ritzies needed wood ashes for their garden and as the Collins family had had a wood fire the night before, they decided the fireplace was the best place to find them. After sweeping the fine white ashes into a coal bucket, they sifted them through a piece of screen so as to take out all the big and unburned pieces and sprinkle the soft dust over their garden.

How it would all turn out, they could little guess. They had decided to plant a vegetable garden and raise some carrots and peas and things and had gotten well under way when they had been on for Mrs. Collins had given them all the seeds that were left in her seed box. Each row was neatly marked with a stick, upon which was printed the name of the planted vegetable. When the little garden patch was all planted, Marty appointed Tag as the first to serve on water duty. The Ritzies were to take turns watering the garden every night after school.

Patsy had learned from helping her mother with the flowers that it wasn't wise to water plants while the sun was shining and so this time was set instead of in the morning.

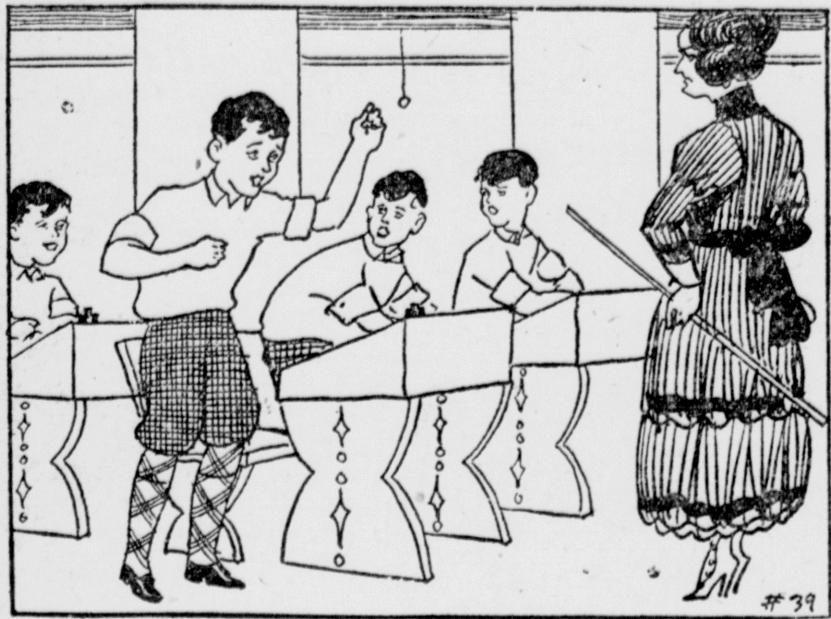

The day after the garden had been finished, Marty had taken an unusual interest in the geology lesson. For some reason, the teacher suddenly started talking about gardening and the different kinds of soil.

She had asked why clay soil was called heavy and someone had answered, "Because it is sticky." "Then what is it that we mix with the heavy clay soil to make it lighter?"

No one seemed to know and all of a sudden she said, "Marty Collins, what do you say?"

Marty, who had been thinking of the Ritzie garden and their troubles with clay soil, muttered the word, "Sand."

"Correct," answered the teacher. "It is always wise to mix a little sand with clay to make it lighter."

to tell that they couldn't raise anything in that heavy clay soil. Not to be defeated, they had tried mixing sand and ashes with it and were now ready to plant the seeds.

Just whose idea it had been about the mixing of the sand, no one knew, and, in fact, it might not work at all, but the Ritzies had decided not to ask any more questions and he laughed at as a result. Everyone seemed to think it was a great joke that they were trying to raise a garden. The twins had heard their father say that wood ashes were good for clay and so they were sure that that part of it would turn out all right anyway.

Patsy had soaked the pea seeds the night before and they were swollen to almost twice their natural size. "That will make them take root much faster," she explained when the other Ritzies had asked what made them so big and puffy.

There were seeds enough for a row of carrots, one of peas, two of radishes and one hill of muskmelon.

"It'll work! It'll work!" cried Marty, excitedly, quite forgetful of the fact that he was still in school, until the tapping of the bell brought him to his senses.

Of course there was nothing to do then but explain how their little group had planned and worked out a garden and had used sand and ashes in hopes that this would help make things grow.

The teacher seemed very proud of him, but Marty didn't care about that. He was counting the minutes until the bell would ring so that he could tell the Ritzies that their garden would be all right and that the vegetables would really grow in spite of all their worries.

The Ritzies had so much fun with their garden that they think every boy and girl should have one. If the soil around your house is clay, you had better follow their suggestions, and use sand and ashes. If it is black rich soil, you may be sure that your garden will grow nicely.

THREE INDICATE INTENTION TO SEEK CITY COMMISSION JOBS

Charles A. Kelble, present member, and E. E. Lighthouse and Jacob Kany, have obtained petitions from R. E. Dunkel, clerk of the Board of Elections, preparatory to declaring their candidacy for City Commission.

Kelble is serving out the unexpired term of Harry A. Sparks, resigned. Lighthouse is ticket agent for the Dayton-Xenia Railway Co. and has been a candidate for public office before while Kany was for many years a member of the City Board of Education.

Two vacancies on the Commission are created this year when the terms of Dr. C. G. McPherson and C. A. Kelble expire. Whether Dr. McPherson will become a candidate for re-election is not certain.

SPRINGFIELD BOY SCOUTS CAMPING AT YELLOW SPRINGS

Under the supervision of H. O. Portz, Scout executive, fifty-five Springfield Boy Scouts and camp officers arrived at Camp Miami on the Bryan state farm near Yellow Springs Monday, and will remain for the first camp term of two weeks, which opened Monday.

Chief Asa Snow, full-blooded Sioux Indian, who is to instruct various camp and wood crafts during the summer sessions, was introduced to the young campers at a brief camp fire in the evening. He narrated his experiences during his life with the Indians in the West and outlined the course to be taught the boys.

A regular camp fire, to which the public is invited, will be held Wednesday evening beginning at 6:30, with Walter Humiston in charge. The temporary dam providing for swimming for the boys, is expected to be put in operation by the end of the week.

Scouts from Troops 1, 2, 3, 13, 15 and 19 of Springfield are housed in the eighteen tents, two teepees and a headquarters tent which comprise the equipment.

WHAT HAS HAPPENED:

Philip Wynne Tracy IV has had a childish engagement with Natalie Jones. Becoming interested in Lyra Hilliard, an old friend of his mother's, he soon finds he is falling in love with her.

Philip Tracy and Rodney Marshall are among the first to enlist in the World war.

Phil's regiment is sent to the front soon after arriving in France, and Phil is wounded while on a dangerous mission. Rod is killed trying to save his friend and Phil receives the cross de guerre for bravery.

While recovering in the south of France, armistice is declared and Phil, meeting certain requirements, is awarded a scholarship in a French university and returns to Paris.

His mother, not having heard from him for months, goes to Paris to hunt him, and Major Auckland, who is devoted to Anne Tracy, accompanies her. Unexpectedly she comes face to face with her son.

The next morning at breakfast Phil and his mother talk things over and Mrs. Tracy learns to her consternation that Phil intends to marry a French divorcee with a four-year-old child. John Auckland tries to comfort her.

Phil and his mother visit the scene of Rod's death. Soon notices are posted that Phil's regiment is to be sent home.

Here the story further unfolds—

CHAPTER XLVII

A VERY SUCCESSFUL ANNOUNCEMENT PARTY

"We will talk of that in the morning dear. I am off now."

Hastily kissing his mother, Philip left, and although Anne was sure he had gone to Pat, she was glad to be alone.

Since that first morning when they had talked of Natalie, Philip had never mentioned her name. Anne Tracy had sent her the conventional picture cards during her first week in Paris, and received no answer. If she had written to Philip, he had not wanted her to know it. He had said nothing about it.

She rather wondered what had come up that had made it so necessary that he go to see Pat this evening. Perhaps she, too, had seen the notice that the American soldiers who were at school in Paris would soon be going home.

Was it going to be another long separation from Philip? No, so, could she marry John Auckland? A tender smile weathered her lips as she thought of him. No man could be kinder to her. As though her thoughts had the power to bring him to her, at that moment he appeared in her doorway.

"All alone, Anne?"

"Yes, I think Philip had a summons to appear at the court of love. He asked me if I could not let you know that I was to be alone."

"Why did you not do it, dear?"

"Because it seemed to me that I have been enough bother to you."

"Anne, it is possible that you do not yet know that I would rather be with you than with anyone else on earth? I suppose you saw that Phil's comrades will be sailing soon. If he intends to be discharged on my side, he had better be making preparations."

"Yes, I told him that, and he said he would talk about it in the morning."

"Have you had your dinner?"

"No, I thought I would have a bit of something up here in my room."

"My dear, you put on your stunningest frock and that gold coat we bought the day you met Phil and we will go over to Montmartre and find the gayest and most bohemian place I know. I think a little spice will cheer you up."

Pat's telegram had worried Phil not a little.

Although his mother did not know it, he had not seen her for four days. The message said, "Has your mother at last persuaded you not to see me any more? Come to me on receipt of this. I must know."

For the last day or two he had allowed himself to wonder a little just what the boys who had already returned were doing on Broadway.

He had even bought a New York paper, and in it he had seen a glaring page advertisement of "KENYON & JONES CANNED MILK."

He read no more. Instead, he carried the paper over to the grate and laid it softly on the burning coals.

As he rode to Pat's apartment, he thought more than he ever had before of his future, and as always, when he thought of himself and any woman growing old together, that woman had the face and form of Natalie Jones.

"So that is in a way an 'announcement dress.'"

He rang the bell. After the usual delay, the concierge let him in.

"WHAT is the matter, Wynne?"

"Why have you not been to see me? Do you know it has been four days?"

"I have been busy, Pat," he said, as he kissed her lightly on both cheeks.

"Did you see that the American soldiers who are at school here are preparing to leave for home in about six weeks?"

"Yes, dear, yes. Don't cry so. I haven't gone yet."

"Did you tell your mother you were going to stay?"

"Yes."

Again the woman threw her arms about Phil's neck. "Dearest one, I have been bad to you. You have been making it all possible, while I have been blaming you for staying away from me. What did your mother say?"

"She did not say much. We are going to have it out in the morning."

"Oh, Wynne, my love, I know she will not let you marry."

"I hardly see, Pat, how she can help herself."

"She can prevent it in Paris. You will have to have her consent, and she will never give it."

"Don't worry, Pat. My mother never refused me anything in her life."

"Perhaps not, dear one. Perhaps not in so many words, but I think had it not been for your mother, you would have married that Natalie of whom you have told me."

"Well, anyway, I did not," Phil said, a bit impatiently. "I expect fate had already put your sign on me."

"When will you take me to your mother as your future wife, Wynne? Do you know, I am afraid of her. She can be so tall and stately and stern and grand."

Phil threw back his head and laughed at this description of his mother. "My dear girl," he said, "my mother is not as tall as you are and she has the wildest kind of eyes that are always asking and always receiving from everyone, love. You will love her, Pat, when you know her better."

"Perhaps, but I have never seen her eyes when she asked me to love her, and I do not believe she will ever love me. Wynne, I have nearly gone mad these last four days while you have been away. Do you think your mother will ever love me?"

He thanked his stars that at this moment Natalie Jones made her appearance and held out her arms to him. It gave him an excuse for not answering. He did not want to lie to Pat.

Like all men who are successful with women, he always told them the truth—at least a part of it. If he could, in this case he would have had to make Pat realize that he was afraid his mother would never love her, because of him.

In the first place, Anne Tracy would be jealous of her, more so than she would be of a young girl whom she mistook she could bend to her suggestions.
